Virginia Beach Drive-In Theatre Opens Tonight

New Outdoor Motion Picture Theatre Is Modern in Every Way

Tonight sees the inauguration of Virginia Beach's newest entertainment bid—the Virginia Beach Drive-In Theatre. Located on Larkin Road, two miles west of Atlantic Avenue, the new drive-in will be the last word in outdoor motion picture theatres.

Allen Soile, president of the corporation operating the Virginia Beach Drive-In, said that the best engineering talent had been called in to assure perfect vision from any spot on the 500-car lot. With a tilted tower and a graded lot, there is none of the distortion that once plagued the drive-ins. RCA sound equipment assures perfect reception.

A large concession stand serving snacks and cold drinks is finished with a plate glass front from which the motion picture in progress is clearly visible.

The management intends to show two shows nightly, with some midnight shows scheduled. Opening attraction tonight will be "Oh! You Beautiful Doll," with June Haver and Mark Stevens. Free ice cream will be given to the children attending.

Mr. Soile said that plans call for beautiful landscaping and a playground for the little children, but that these features will be added later in the season.

Two shows will be presented nightly, at 7:45 and 10:00. The season will continue as long as weather permits, Mr. Soile said.

Little Theatre Reorganized for Banner Season

The Little Theatre will start the 1960-61 season with a new set of by-laws, a new executive committee, and a number of new directors.

R. B. Taylor, president, is the only officer serving another term, with James Allen, as vice president, J. D. W. Casada, treasurer, Mrs. Robert Henry, secretary, John D. Lelich, Jr., legal advisor. The business manager will be named later.

Chairmen of standing committees are: Mrs. W. C. Huntington, play reading; Mrs. Robert Thurman, play casting; Mrs. J. W. Ellis, publicity; Mrs. R. F. Trant, Jr., membership; Goodwin S. Jordan, house; Hardy Cole, Jr., and Allen Tyler, production; Mr. and Mrs. Miles Chapell, special events; Mrs. Albert V. Crosby, Jr., workshop; Mrs. Joseph Deal, children's theatre.

The above-named officers and committee chairmen constitute the executive committee, which met August 1 at the Galilee Parish House, to formulate a budget and discuss the duties of the various committees. The findings of this committee will be presented to the board of directors for confirmation in the near future.

Rector of Galilee Issues Invitation

A special invitation has been issued by the Rev. Edmund Berkeley, rector, to everyone at Virginia Beach—residents, newcomers and visitors—to a Prayer Service for the State of the World, which will be held every day, Monday through Friday, from 12 noon to 12:15 p.m. in Galilee Episcopal Church. This service will afford an opportunity for each individual to make a positive contribution in establishing righteousness and peace throughout the world. Every person is urged to join in this great endeavor.

County Teachers Attend Special Seminar At Oceana

Dr. Hanna Conducts Workshop for Second Summer

Thirty-nine Princess Anne County teachers are completing a three-week workshop at the Oceana school this week under the leadership of Dr. Geneva Hanna, of the University of Texas. Those participating in the workshop will receive credit from the College of William and Mary.

Dr. Hanna conducted a similar workshop in the county last year.

Miss Louise Lutzford, visiting supervisor in the county schools, explained the activities of the group as follows:

"The purpose of the workshop is to continue the development of the social studies curriculum that was begun in last summer's workshop. This summer's participants are making definite progress in organizing the program of work at each grade level. It is believed that at the end of the three-week period the school system of the county will be provided with a more constructive guide in this particular area than at any previous time."

"One of the outstanding activities is to know better the historic background, the resources, and the problems of Princess Anne County. In order to accomplish this objective the teachers are taking planned tours of the county. Last week they visited the historic shrines and industries of the Oceana, Virginia Beach and State Beaches Park areas. The tour for the current week included the Court House, Kempsville and Lynnhaven sections. These teachers will be able, not only to better interpret and discuss the local history and resources of the county with the boys and girls they teach, but will likewise be better qualified to plan similar tours for them."

"In addition to the above enrichment, the teachers are learning to employ varied art media in expressing their reactions to the understandings and learnings developed from the tours. Just as children in any classroom, the teachers are using clay, tempera, finger paint, crayola, colored chalk, newspaper, wrapping paper, etc., in making freestyle, murals, charts, maps, and peep boxes. Some teachers are choosing to express themselves through poems, stories, and dramatization."

Myers Chairman of Agricultural Exhibits

Blair Myers, agricultural teacher in the Princess Anne County Schools, has assumed the chairmanship for agricultural exhibits for the Princess Anne County Fair, according to Mr. George Mullen, general co-chairman. He succeeds H. W. Oulin in the post.

Be a News Contributor.

The News will start soon a new weekly feature—favorite recipes and household hints that you have found to be useful and saving.

We want to preserve some of the recipes that have long been favorites of people in the county, and which have made the county famous among our visitors. Old recipes, new recipes, new twists on old recipes—all are welcome. We plan to print one a week in our columns.

Also, we know our readers will want to know who has sent in the recipe, maybe something about it, so will you send in your name along with the recipe? Of course, if you are modest and would rather not have your name attached, that would be all right with us, but frankly, we believe that your name would add to the value of the recipe.

Bradt, Wells Retain Championship in Tennis Tournament

Bill Bradt and Frank Wells, defending champions in the Virginia Beach Playground Tennis Tournament, defeated Dr. Ralph Stata and Edgar Cayce in the doubles tournament which closed Saturday 6-3, 6-2, 9-7, 6-0.

Dr. Stata took the first game of the second set, but then lost three in a row. Stata and Cayce took the next game. Bradt and Wells then came forward again, capturing the last three games.

Stata and Cayce grew stronger in the third set. Cayce's fast playing and Stata's hard drives took the third set 9-7.

The final set was not quite so decisive. The Bradt-Wells combination of forehand cross-court shots and net defensive playing ended the match set to the tune of 6-0.

Oceana Methodist Church Holds Cornerstone Laying Ceremony

by Mrs. Foy C. Casper

Cornerstone laying ceremonies were held at Scott Memorial Methodist Church, Oceana, Saturday afternoon, July 28, 1960. The Rev. J. Fletcher Osborne, pastor of the Oceana Methodist Church, and Dr. Frank L. Wells, district superintendent of the Methodist Church, officiated. The cornerstones held the simple inscription, 1889-1960, signifying that the Scott Memorial Methodist Church is the offspring of the old Providence Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which was in existence many years prior to 1889, but the records of which have long since been lost or destroyed.

Taking part in the ceremony were Miss Fannie Brock, oldest original surviving member of the Providence Methodist Church; Mrs. Anthony Croonenbergs; Mrs. S. D. Scott, Sr., widow of S. D. Scott, in whose honor the church is dedicated; his daughter, Mrs. I. J. Upson, and granddaughter, Betty J. Upson; Mrs. Leonard Hiteshew, and Mrs. Annie B. West. Howard G. Brooks, contractor for the new church, performed the masonry work. Pictures were made of Dr. Wells standing by the cornerstones, flanked on either side by three small girls of the present Church Sunday School, Little Avis Evans, Betty Upson, and Sarah Alice Godfrey, granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Godfrey, Sr., of Princess Anne County. Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey were continuous members of the Providence Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and its succeeding church, the Oceana Methodist Church, for more than fifty-five years.

The Rev. Mr. Osborne chose for his Biblical reading I Cor. 3:9-17. Dr. Wells' address was based on the 12th chapter of Hebrews. Citing a definite parallel between those times and our present critical era, he emphasized the fact

Pacific Avenue Would Be Super Parkway Cutting off Atlantic

The Virginia Beach Town Council in special session last Friday night took steps to keep the Norfolk Southern Railway right-of-way on Pacific Avenue out of private hands when the tracks are abandoned, and divulged a million-dollar town project to make Pacific Avenue a super divided highway and eventually the main thoroughfare of the town.

The councilmen also announced that the town will make the railway company a "fair offer" for its track sites and indicated, if refused, condemnation steps will be instituted for the property with the State Corporation Commission.

Passed on first reading was an ordinance providing that real estate within Virginia Beach not already sub-divided and platted for building sites must first be approved for that purpose by the Town Planning Commission.

The ordinance follows a similar one adopted by the Princess Anne County Board of Supervisors Monday, which bans buildings within 75 feet of the western side of Atlantic Avenue. The avenue in the county takes in the lands now occupied by the Norfolk Southern tracks.

The order for abandoning the rails was entered by the Norfolk Southern July 5, and could be effective in 30 days, or on August 5.

On the recommendation of Town Attorney Roy Smith, an offer of $18,000 will be made to the Norfolk Southern for the property involved, which amounts to some 75 lots. The right-of-way is 40 feet wide from 35th to 40th Streets and the feet wide from 40th Street to the northern limits of the town.

Mr. Smith said a bonus bid offer to purchase should be made to the railway company, and indicated that if the offer is rejected the town may go to the SCC with condemnation proceedings.

Also, the town will make an offer of $17,000 for the city block bounded by 18th and 20th Streets and Pacific and Arletta Avenues, now owned by the Norfolk Southern and occupied by the town playground.

Town Engineer Carroll Bounds explained the town's plans for Pacific Avenue from preliminary blueprints drawn up for the million-dollar project. It is contemplated that the roadway will be double with a parkway in the center, 30 feet wide to 24th Street and 88 feet wide to 42nd Street, where it would intersect with Atlantic Avenue.

Mr. Bounds said that Public Roads Administration and State funds could be obtained to bear three-fourths of the cost of the million dollar program.

John Tucker Wins Company Award

The Norfolk and Richmond agencies of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co. held their annual summer meeting at Virginia Beach Monday, with D. Conrad Little, General Agent in Norfolk, as host.

The all-day meeting was conducted by Robert B. Proctor, formerly of Norfolk, and now assistant superintendent of agencies at the home office in Hartford, Conn.

John Tucker, the company's agent at Virginia Beach, won first prize as leader in volume in the Norfolk area, and W. H. Pearson, Jr., of Norfolk, was runner-up.

For the Richmond area, Alton Frix was leader and second place went to Edward N. Cheek.

Approximately 17 agents attended the meeting and were joined by wives and guests for a banquet and dance at the beach club Monday night.

QUICK HENRY, THE DICTIONARY

We have tried, and tried diligently, to discover the name for the by-play that goes on out at the new harness races. We knew that it could not be called betting, because that is against the law. Wagering? No, that's not nice either, the law books say.

Maybe you can help us. Seems that there are several little windows, with a gentleman sitting back of each. You pick out a name of a horse that sounds good to you, and you tell the gentleman you like the horse's name, and give him a couple of bucks and he gives you a little ticket.

If the horse with the name you liked WINS the race, the rules of this new game say, you can go back to another group of windows and a REAL nice gentleman hands you some money, only it is more money than you gave the other gentleman in the first place. Isn't that a nice game? And aren't those kind gentlemen?

But the new rules, as observed at the track, don't give the game a name, and that is what we want to find out.

It is a little like the game they used to have here around 1924, only they had dogs instead of horses. But then they made the boys stop playing the game because they called it some bad old name like parimutuel betting, and that is illegal. Those dog races were fun, too. We can't remember who it was that ran those dog races. We are sure that it wasn't being sponsored by the American Legion, as the present harness races are. And we believe that it wasn't run on the land belonging to a county official.

Say, maybe he could tell us what the name of the new game is!

LOOKING BACK

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO — AUGUST 2, 1929

"Local Police Stage Wholesale Raids on Alleged Beach Gambling Houses"; "No Gambling Paraphernalia Found by Officers"; "Man Is Arrested at Tin Garage for Illegal Possession of Ardent Spirits, Fined $50 and Costs." These were the headlines in the August 2, 1929, Virginia Beach Weekly, twenty-one years ago. A thorough search was made by the police, the Weekly reported, but no gambling paraphernalia was found. The warrants were issued as follows: Tobe Mapp, (Ocean Club) gambling device and ardent spirits; W. F. Linka, (The Links) gambling device and ardent spirits; The Rita, run by Spot Ferguson and Jim Simpson, ardent spirits; The Jim Garage, ardent spirits.

Little interest in the Democratic Primaries on the part of voters in the county was reported. As far as Princess Anne County was concerned the only battle appeared to be between the aspirants for the Democratic nomination for Governor, who included John Garland Pollard, G. Walter Mapp, and Rosewell Page.

Personals and social notes included the following items:

The Cloverleaf Bridge Club (Lynnhaven) met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Hancock Doyle.

Miss Geneva Woodhouse (Court House) has returned to her home after attending summer school at Harrisonburg State Normal.

Mrs. Florence Capps, of Pungo, is visiting friends in North Carolina.

Mrs. Mary Carroll and family, of Pungo, spent Saturday visiting her sister, Mrs. L. A. Barte, at the Court House.

Twenty-nine 4-H Club members of Princess Anne County attended the State Short Course in Blacksburg recently.

In Kempville, Miss Frances Herick returned Saturday from Harrisonburg Normal where she has been taking a summer course.

At Virginia Beach, Miss Mary Temple, of Danville, and Miss Laura Green, of Charleston, S. C., who have been visiting Mrs. James M. Jordan, Jr., will return tomorrow to their homes.

John Mitchell Barner

John Mitchell Barner, 72, died July 31 at 2:30 a.m. at his home "Cherry Hill," McKenney, Va.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Hampton Harris, of McKenney, Va., and the following sons and daughters: The Norman Hart and George B. Barner, of Virginia Beach; J. M. Barner, Jr., of Norfolk; Mrs. F. D. Costenbader, of Washington, D. C.; F. W. Barner and D. L. Barner, of McKenney, Va. Eleven grandchildren and one great-grandchild also survive.

Seashore State Park One of Most Popular State Owned Parks

Vacation cabins in six of Virginia's state parks will remain open a month after Labor Day to provide inexpensive accommodations during the Old Dominion's most glorious travel season, according to an announcement by the State Conservation Commission.

Renting for $48.00 per week for four people, a typical cabin in any one of the parks is equipped with electric or gas stove, ice box, housekeeping utensils and linens. All the parks have restaurants for fugitives from the kitchen who yet want the informality and privacy which secluded cabins afford.

Most popular of all the parks, according to the Division of Parks, is Seashore, with two water frontages, one on Chesapeake Bay and the other on a collection of lakes and creeks known as Lynnhaven Inlet, Broad Bay, Linkhorn Bay, and Crystal Lake. The gently shelving beach of Chesapeake Bay offers safe saltwater swimming for all ages, and the twenty-five miles of well-marked trails for horseback riding and hiking lead into the semi-tropical forests of cypress trees festooned with spanish moss, live oaks spreading over the low sand dunes, loblolly bays, holly and dogwood. Boats for saltwater fishing are available nearby. Seashore has the added advantage of being within a few miles of Virginia Beach, with its excellent resort facilities, including surf bathing in the Atlantic, golf, dancing and other seashore sports.

Virginia's parks are scattered throughout the state and take full advantage of the varied altitudes, climates and recreation resources of the state. Douthat and Hungry Mother, in the Allegheny Mountains, cover areas of .000 and 2,400 acres respectively, surrounding beautiful lakes of crystal clear mountain waters, well stocked with game fish. There are boats for hire at reasonable rates, and in Douthat Park riding horses are available to explore the many miles of trails through the wooded area brilliant with autumn berries and leaves of hardwoods, contrasted with the green and fragrant pines.

At evening as the equinoctial sun dissolves into a blaze of color, especially over these mountain parks, the large open fireplace in each cabin becomes the usual focal point, and the wood smoke wafted on the brisk night air is the thing remembered when lovers of the outdoors return to city dwellings and office buildings.

Randolph Odell, director of the Division of Parks, has announced that there are cabins in these two parks available after September 4 until closing date of October 2, and also in Fairy Stone and Staunton River. Cabins for occupancy beginning September 11 can be had in Seashore and Westmoreland Parks.

Because of the ever increasing popularity of park accommodations, $600,000 will be spent on construction of 67 additional modern cabins for the 1951 season.

Seashore's cabin colony will be increased from 16 to 25, Westmoreland from 13 to 25, Douthat from 26 to 30, Hungry Stone from 13 to 25 and Fairy Stone from 9 to 25. The newest park, Claytor Lake, in Pulaski County, which up to this year has been equipped only with facilities for day use, will have 12 new cabins ready for occupancy in the spring of 1951. At Prince Edward State Park, for Negroes, six miles south of Burkeville, a restaurant, 6 cabins and bath house have been constructed and the rounding out of this park is well under way.

In addition to vacation cabins, which this season have a capacity of approximately 400 persons, all parks have picnic areas, bathing facilities, and in Hungry Mother, Fairy Stone, Westmoreland and Seashore camping and trailer facilities are provided at 75 cents per day. At Douthat and Hungry Mother guest lodges furnish overnight accommodations at $2.75 per night single, and $4.50 double.

Including day users, Virginia state park attendance broke the million mark in 1949, and predictions for 1951 are in proportion to the increased facilities.

Application blanks for cabins can be obtained from the Division of Parks, State Conservation Commission, Richmond, and reservations should reach that office between February 27 and March 1 for the 1951 season. Parks will open in the spring on May 14.

Book on 'Safety Precautions Afloat' Offered by Gulf Oil

Exactly what to do—and what not to do—to insure against power boat fires or explosions is thoroughly described in a practical, down-to-earth booklet newly issued by Gulf Oil Corporation.

The pocket-sized brochure, called "Down The Hatch—Safety Precautions Afloat," uses amusing color cartoons and layman's language to summarize under one cover the basic safeguards necessary in the handling of marine fuels.

Emphasizing that only one and one-fourth per cent gasoline concentration in the atmosphere can cause an explosion at the slightest spark, the booklet outlines:

- Safety precautions essential while refueling (failure to observe these causes most accidents); the handling and inspection of the fuel system; proper appointments of this system, of the engine and auxiliary equipment for insuring safety.
- Ventilation, particularly vital since fumes tend to gather at the lowest level, and safe electrical system installations are discussed in detail. Precautions in the galley, in cleaning and in other boating activities are specified.

"Safety Precautions Afloat" is available without charge through Gulf marine dealers or by writing to Marine Sales, Gulf Oil Corporation, 1009 Gulf Building, Pittsburgh 30, Pa.

Army Calls Reserve, Guard Officers on Voluntary Basis

The Army has announced plans to call to active duty reserve and National Guard officers on a voluntary basis, it was reported from the Virginia Military District.

At present, only company grade officers—second lieutenants through captains—of the civilian components will be accepted.

Officers will be recalled to extended active duty on a voluntary basis in the grade now held and may be members of the active, inactive, or honorary reserve. Currently, the greatest need is for officers from the Medical and Dental Corps, Corps of Engineers, and Infantry.

Other reserve and National Guard officers are needed from the Medical Service Corps, Chaplains, Ordnance, Signal Corps, Staff (Branch immaterial), Finance Department, Chemical Corps, Armored, Field Artillery, Coast Artillery, Army Nurse Corps, and Women's Medical Specialist Corps. Officers called to duty under this program will serve for one, two, or three years.

District Headquarters went on to state that the number of officers required at this time is limited and only those branches and grades indicated are required.

Officers recalled must report for duty within one month after orders are issued.

Officers not now eligible under this program were advised to keep in contact with their unit instructors for official information on any changes in requirements. Ineligible officers were requested to refrain from submitting applications.

District Headquarters went on to state the procedure that those officers wishing active duty must follow. Eligible reserve officers will submit their applications to the Chief, Virginia Military District, through their unit instructors. Officers in control groups will submit their applications directly to the Chief, Virginia Military District. National Guard officers will submit their applications through normal National Guard military channels to the State Adjutant General. The final selection will be made by the Department of the Army.

Lane Kennels Lead In Points At End of Month of Racing

Greyhound Racing At Moyock Track Proving Trainers

After close to a month of racing at the Cavalier Kennel Club of Moyock, N. C., the Frank Lane Kennels lead all others with 43 places in a total of 96 starts, a percentage of .440.

Lane noosed out R. J. Crouch, owner of the Blackwell Kennels, who had 40 places in 76 starts, and who is accustomed to the first place driver's seat. Third place went to L. Houser with 35 out of 83 starts, while Carl Sedberry with 31 out of 79 and Mike Castellani with 32 of 86 were in fourth and fifth place respectively.

Lane has always been connected in sports one way or another, starting out his career as a baseball player and when weight and age caught up with him he turned to greyhound racing and has become a better than average dog trainer.

Lane's advance to top place among the winners is an indication that his kennel is enjoying one of those winning cycles which happen quite frequently. The upward swing of the cycle should last at least another week so it behooves smart players to latch onto the Lane dogs while they are winning.

In the 96 starts of the dogs from the Lane Kennels, 16 have come across the tape first, 16 seconds, and 11 third. R. J. Crouch's Blackwell Kennels likewise had 16 wins, however only 12 seconds and 12 shows in their 76 starts.

Here are the top ten kennels, with number of starts, wins, seconds, and thirds up to July 3:

Frank Lane: 96 starts, 16 wins, 16 seconds, 11 thirds; 155 points.
Blackwell: 76 starts, 16 wins, 12 seconds, 12 thirds; 144 points.
L. Houser: 83 starts, 14 wins, 10 seconds, 11 thirds; 125 points.
C. Serberry: 79 starts, 13 wins, 7 seconds, 11 thirds; 110 points.
M. Castellani: 86 starts, 9 wins, 14 seconds, 9 thirds; 105 points.
James Farley: 61 starts, 12 wins, 7 seconds, 8 thirds; 101 points.
L. B. Benedict: 63 starts, 9 wins, 12 seconds, 11 thirds; 101 points.
B. Mullin: 70 starts, 10 wins, 10 seconds, 10 thirds; 100 points.
Paul Boone: 78 starts, 8 wins, 13 seconds, 11 thirds; 98 points.
Charles Todd: 57 starts, 10 wins, 8 seconds, 14 thirds; 96 points.

Wyse Appointed State Coordinator Of Civilian Defense

Governor Battle Asks Cooperation Of Local Officials

Governor Battle has announced the appointment of a State Coordinator of Civilian Defense as of a special assistant to the Governor's office in the organization of civilian defense activities in Virginia.

The coordinator is J. H. Wy of Salem, District Highway Engineer, who served in the same capacity during World War II from 1941 to 1945.

The special assistant, who will serve on a voluntary, unpaid basis for special assignments by the Governor, is Samuel Bemis, Richmond, a prominent business executive.

The Governor, who has been studying the civilian defense situation for several weeks, announced the appointments simultaneously with the entry of an executive order, citing provisions of the Civilian Defense Act of 1942, as declaring that in his judgment "the uncertainties of the present international situation are such that... the civilian population of Virginia should be prepared to take such steps as may be necessary to protect itself and to assist the armed forces in the event of presently unforeseen exigencies."

He pointed out, in making the announcement, that an adequate civilian defense required the cooperation of the local governing authorities and that the state role would be to assist in planning and developing programs designed to cope with emergencies.

"I am confident that the people of Virginia and all their local officials will cooperate to the fullest in this highly important undertaking," Governor Battle said.

He expressed gratification in obtaining the services of both J. Wy and Mr. Bemis.

He said Mr. Bemis' wide business experience and connection with Virginia industry would be invaluable in setting up and carrying out the civilian defense program, and added that Mr. Wy, who served with distinction in the capacity during the last war, would be available on a loan basis from the State Highway Department.

Applications Being Taken for Position Of Social Worker

State Merit System Council To Fill County Position

Applications for the position of social worker in Princess Anne County are now being taken by the Virginia Merit System Council, according to an announcement by W. I. Hall, supervisor.

The announcement said that preference will be given to workers who can fill the qualifications for "Social Worker B" which pays an annual salary of from $1,500 to $2,000, although "Social Worker A" standards will be considered. The latter pays a salary of $1,500 to $1,900. The employee may be either male or female, white, and must provide his own automobile.

Positions in Class B are the regular casework positions in the general casework and child welfare fields and are distinguished from those of the training class primarily by the broader scope of their duties, greater knowledge and more independent application of professional skills. There is regular supervision but it is less detailed. Workers are expected to plan their own work, make investigations and studies with little guidance, evaluate the information secured and make decisions within established policies and standards. They are required to exercise independent judgment and initiative and they seek guidance and help only in the more unusual or difficult case situations. They carry a full case load and must be familiar with agency standards, policies and functions. In some instances they may supervise one or two workers or students. All child welfare workers are in this class.

Qualifications: Completion of college (120 semester hours) and one half year (15 semester hours) of graduate study in an approved school of social work. One year of successful experience in social casework may be substituted for the required half year of graduate study.

The examination will be designed to test for: 1. Considerable knowledge of current social, economic and health problems; 2. Considerable knowledge of social security and related social service programs; 3. Considerable knowledge of casework philosophy, methods and practice; 4. Some knowledge of psychology as related to personal and social adjustment; 5. Ability and desire to work successfully with people; 6. Ability to make independent judgments, to understand and interpret laws and regulations and to deal effectively with the public.

Weights of parts of examination are: written test 70; experience and training 30.

VIRGINIA ELECTRIC AND POWER COMPANY

First of the Fine Cars in Value

Even Wiser than He Seems

PLAINLY, here travels a man wise in the ways of fine motocars.

You know that, by the four Ventiports and the rich sweep of chrome which mark his car as a ROADMASTER.

You know it, should you trail him on the highway, by the smooth lift of the big Fireball power plant at his toe's command, by the obvious leanness of the ride he enjoys, the swift ease with which Dynaflow Drive solves his traffic problems.

What is not so plain from what you see is that here also is a man very wise in what today's dollar should buy!

For this man has all that a finer owner can ask for—brilliant performance, a ride without equal for gentle softness, finger-easy handling, abundant room all around him, styling that is easily the most distinguished on the highway.

Yet he paid considerably less than comparable merit costs elsewhere.

He found fewer extra charges in his delivered price, with such things as Dynaflow Drive, foam rubber cushions, windshield washers, electric clock, even non-glare rear-view mirror included in the price.

If you know fine cars, it won't take fifteen minutes behind a ROADMASTER wheel to see that here is one of the finest.

If you have inquired about prices, a single glance at the delivered figures establishes this as the big buy of the field.

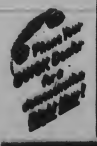

Why not make both checks—especially since your Buick dealer will be glad to arrange a trial run in a ROADMASTER any time you care to call on him?

Only BUICK has
and with it goes:

HYDRA-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three angles. New V-800 engine in BUICK models. • NEW-PAYMENT FINANCING, with INSURE-GUARD fireproof, tear-through features, "double bubble" multiple. • WIDE-ANGLE VENTILITY, close-up round view both forward and back. • TRAFFIC-NANDY HILL, less overall length for easier parking and gorging, short turning radius. • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the sides. • BODY BUICK built, from off-cut springs, baby-kick rims, low-pressure tires, rich-steady torque-tube. • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

Standard on ROADMASTER, optional on others cost as SUPER and SPECIAL models.

4-Hers to Attend District Poultry Judging Contest

26 Counties to Send Teams to Jamestown Camp August 15

A judging contest of 4-H poultry club members was held in Princess Anne County Wednesday, July 26, according to H. W. Olin, county agent, Denver Dr. Bragg, 4-H poultry specialist at V. P. I., was present to give the preliminary instructions to the contestants.

The results of the judging contest were as follows: Ira Pisk, of Kempsville Senior Club, was high scorer chalking up 539 points out of a possible 700. Buddy Redman, of the Oceana Junior Club, was second, scoring 520; Rita Ehrig, of Croesus Senior Club, was third, scoring 480; and Eugene Martin, of the Croesus Senior Club, was fourth, scoring 460.

These four members will compete in a District Judging Contest which will be held at Jamestown 4-H Camp August 15. If the men win at Jamestown it will compete in a state-wide contest at Seabury August 22.

Each team will be composed of three top scorers, therefore Eugene Martin will act as alternate. The judging consists of sorting different breeds of hens for both production and standard perfection, and white and brown eggs for both exterior and interior quality.

Four-H Club poultry and egg laying teams from Princess Anne and 26 other counties have been named to compete for district honors at Jamestown Camp, August 15, Denver Bragg, 4-H poultry specialist at V. P. I., announced.

The two top teams then will compete for state honors at the H Club contest roundup at V. P. I. August 22.

Counties eligible to send teams to the district event are Accomack, Northampton, Caroline, Hanover, and Queen. Middlesex, Matine, Gloucester, King William, James City, New Kent, James City, York, Warwick, Elizabeth City, Henrico, Chesterfield, Prince George, Dinwiddie, Surry, Sussex, and Wight, Southampton, Norfolk, Nansemond, and Princess Anne.

Miss Rogers Named Coordinator of New School Program

Miss Margaret Rogers, of Elizabeth, W. Va., has been named coordinator for a new Distributive Education program that will be inaugurated this year for the first time at the Kempsville and Oceana High Schools, according to an announcement by Frank W. Cox, superintendent of schools.

Miss Rogers, a graduate of the College of William and Mary, studied Distributive Education at the Richmond Professional Institute.

The new course is designed to train senior students for retailing positions. The students will attend classes in the mornings and will work at various positions in the afternoons. Two credits are given for the course.

Miss Rogers said that any student failing to register for the new course last year, and who wishes to do so now, may sign up by contacting her at either of the two schools in the mornings between the hours of 9 and 12.

THAT AIN'T HAY

The Hoover Commission has reported that $140 million a year could be saved by modernizing the organization methods and equipment of the U. S. Post Office Department.

Teams are expected to compete at V. P. I.

Teams already named to take part in the state contest are those from Loudoun, Fairfax, Richmond and Westmoreland counties.

Field Day Planned For Farmers At Holland Station

Noted Speakers to Appear at Meeting Thursday, August 10

Varietal test plots, fertilization experiments, and chemical weed control study will be included in the research projects to be viewed by farmers, professional agricultural workers, and others at field days scheduled at outlined field units of Virginia Agricultural Experiment Stations in August.

The field day that will probably be of most interest to Princess Anne farmers will be held at the Tidewater Field Station, Holland, Virginia, Thursday, August 10, beginning with a speaking program in the Holland High School at 1:30 p.m.

Speakers for the Holland field day will include Station Superintendent E. T. Batten; Dr. H. N. Young, Virginia Experiment Station Director; and Dr. John R. Hutcheson, V. P. I. Chancellor.

Mr. Batten will welcome the group and give an explanation of plans for tours of the experiment station grounds. Dr. Young will lead a discussion of agricultural research work now being conducted in Virginia, and Dr. John R. Hutcheson will address the group on "Farming in the Year Ahead."

Following the speaking program the group will tour the experiment station grounds and note such interesting work as fertility experiments with corn, rotation studies with corn and soybeans, rates of planting corn, corn spacing test, chemical weed control in corn,

Virginia's Income From Visitors Up To All-time High

Officials of the Virginia Travel Council estimate that Virginia's income from visitors this year will equal $200,000,000, an all-time high in the history of the state. Virginia's motor travel has broken all records from out-of-state, the Council said. For the last eighteen consecutive months out-of-state passenger cars have increased in number over the corresponding months of the previous year. The Council, a volunteer, non-profit agency promoting travel, was formed twenty months ago.

The Council advised members in a bulletin that national emergency conditions probably would increase even the anticipated volume of vacation and tourist travel. Facilities for the traveler have increased an estimated 100 per cent since World War II, with an increase in motor court facilities of 14 per cent last year and an estimated increase of 20 per cent or more this year.

"Millions of dollars in new investments catering to the out-of-state visitor are being made in Virginia at this time," Commander Raymond B. Bottom, of Newport News, president of the Council, pointed out. "Virginia is well on the way to realizing the Virginia Travel Council's immediate objective of a half billion dollar travel trade during the first five years of its operation. It may come sooner."

"All farmers in Princess Anne County are urged to make plans to attend this field day on August 10, as it is believed that they will gain much knowledge which will help them to do a better job at home," H. W. Olin, county agent, said.

Local Draft Board to Call 26 Men August 30; Selective Service Head Issues Warning to Draftees

Mrs. McClanan Says Severe Penalties May Be Imposed

Twenty-six men from Princess Anne County will report for physicals on August 30 in the latest quota of draftees to go from the county, according to Mrs. Vivian McClanan, head of the Selective Service. This is double the last quota that went up, Mrs. McClanan said.

She issued a word of warning to men of draft age in the county. "There are 99 Princess Anne County boys, 32 of them in Virginia Beach, who have been mailed questionnaires but who have not returned them to our office," she said.

This means that either they did not receive them or that they have neglected to fill them in and return them to the Board.

"There is a severe penalty for not returning the questionnaires," she said, "or not keeping the Board informed of your whereabouts. However, lots of the boys forget to send us an address where they can be reached, and I want to give them time before turning in their names and not sending the answers to their questionnaires."

The age group to which the questionnaires went were those men who were born between the years 1923 and 1927, she added.

Local laymen who will share in the program are W. O. Beasley, C. H. Neime, W. L. Hampton, G. L. Aldridge, and H. B. Kellam.

R. R. Jackson will preach Sunday night at the 8 o'clock service.

September 19 Set For Referendum On School Loan

September 19 has been set as the date for a referendum of Virginia Beach voters on whether or not to accept the Literary Fund Loan of $700,000 for the building of a first class high school for junior and senior grades.

The amount of money set aside by the Literary Fund has already been approved. If the town should decide to take the loan, it will bear an interest rate of 3 per cent. While interest on the last bond issue sold by the county for schools was at a slightly lower rate (2.75), Superintendent of Schools Frank Cox said that the Literary Fund money might be preferable in that the principal can be paid off at any time, allowing a considerable savings in interest, whereas with a bond sale, the principal must be paid only at stated times.

Oceana Methodist Church Youth Class Names Officers

Ralph Mooney, Jr., of Oceana, was named president of the Older Youth Class of Oceana Methodist Church at a business meeting held in Scott Hall on Friday, August 4. He is a member of the Junior Official Board.

Secretary and treasurer of the group is Miss Helen Syrd Gresham, and Miss Alice Ferebee has been chosen as her assistant. Miss Gresham was also named assistant teacher, and Barry Hilt as substitute teacher, subject to approval by the Church Board of education. Mr. Hilt has been active in class member visitation.

The class will start a fund to furnish their classroom which they expect to occupy late in the year in the new educational building of the Scott Memorial Methodist Church.

Plans were made for several members to attend Norfolk Sub-district MEX at Church on August 8. The group discussed the Senior Youth YMCA Camp and the leadership training camp for Older Rural Youth at the 4-H Club's Camp Farrar, August 17-30.

Troop 61 Scouts Attend Camp

Eight Boy Scouts from Troop 61 will return on Saturday from a week's camping at Camp Darden, Boy Scout Camp at Franklin, Va.

Governor Asks Basic Civilian Defense Setup

Appointments for Local Posts Already Being Considered

Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County officials have been invited by Governor Battle to proceed with basic civilian defense organization in order that there may be no delay when specific recommendations are received from Washington, according to an announcement from Richmond today.

R. A. Jones, town clerk of Virginia Beach, said that plans are well underway and appointments of coordinator and other principal posts in the town's setup will be announced in the near future.

The Governor wrote the mayors of the cities and the chairmen of the boards of supervisors of the counties informing them of the appointment of J. H. Wyse as State Coordinator of Civilian Defense and calling their attention to provisions of the Virginia Civilian Defense Act of 1942. This Act provides for direction of the civil defense organization by the local governing officials.

"It is our thought," the Governor said, "that pending more specific information from the National Office of Civilian Defense, we should proceed with the basic organization on the local level contemplated in our statute. I consider this of the utmost importance."

"I know we can count on the full cooperation of your office and the other duly constituted authorities of your community. Mr. Wyse will be in touch with you, by letter or other means, in the very near future in the interest of laying an early groundwork for the necessary planning and training programs. The success of our civil defense program will depend largely upon the city and county officials of Virginia and I take this opportunity to invite your careful attention to and cooperation in the development of these necessary activities."

The State Coordinator has established headquarters in the State Capitol. He reports he is receiving excellent cooperation from the localities in the preliminary organizational work.

Galilee Church Picnic At 4-H Club Camp

Ice cream and soft drinks will be served. An admission of 25 cents is charged for entrance to the camp. Those who attend are asked to bring along their bathing suits.

Anyone without transportation and those who can provide a car for transport will meet at Galilee Church, 18th Street, at 3:30 p.m.

Rained-Out Races To Be Run Sunday

Rained out last Sunday, the 50-lap stock car championship race at the Virginia Beach Speedway has been rescheduled for this Sunday afternoon.

Only seven laps of the race were run last Sunday before the rain came and made it impossible for the race to go on. They were seven of the most exciting laps of the afternoon as Buzz Barnett, the favorite, and Buck Latham exchanged the lead twice.

A stock car was given away to Jack Jenkins of Hilton Village. Pepper Martin won the first 10-lap heat for straight stocks, S. D. Williams won the second race for straight cars, Alton Haddock topped the 10-lap modified race and E. R. Hill won the 10-lap consolation.

Theatre-Go-Round Presents "Arsenic and Old Lace"

Professional Troupe Continues Policy Of Good Plays

"Arsenic and Old Lace," Joseph Kesselring's farce of wholesale manslaughter and merriment, one of the fastest and sanest comedies on the American stage, is the seventh play to be offered this summer by Virginia Beach's Theatre-Go-Round. This outstanding theatrical success opened at the tent theatre last night and will continue for the six day week ending next Tuesday.

The comedy tells the story of Abby and Martha Brewster, undoubtedly the two nicest old ladies anybody could hope to meet. Their old brownstone house in Brooklyn is the center of a constant stream of good deeds by the two sisters until their charitable ways take an alarming turn. It is at this point that the play begins, for it seems the two old spinsters have a penchant for easing into eternity all the gentle old men without families who come to call at their house.

Two of the most popular actresses in the Theatre-Go-Round company have been assigned the roles of the Brewster sisters, Miss Lesley Savage and Miss Paulette San Marchi. Miss Savage will be remembered for her recent portrayal of Billie Dawn in "Born Yesterday," and Miss San Marchi for her many character appearances through the season, including the lovable sister in the play "Harvey." Playing the role of Jonathan Brewster, the homelidally-inclined brother, will be Romeo Muller, the king-sized actor man who has been seen so frequently on the arena stage. This is the part played originally by Boris Karloff in New York.

A new member of the Theatre-Go-Round company, Lou Frisell, who last week undertook the role of Albert in "Dear Ruth," will be seen this week as the formidable plastic surgeon, Dr. Einstein. Jon Dawson, who is directing the play, will be seen as the playwrighting police officer, O'Hara.

The coveted role of Teddy Brewster, the brother who imagines himself as Teddy Roosevelt, has been assigned to Charles Cagle. Robert Phillippe will play Mortimer Brewster, and Rica Martens will play Elaine, his sweetheart. Others in the large cast are Robert O'Flaherty, Joe Bush, Joseph Lee Frieden, and George Nesbit.

Performances will be given each night, including Sunday, through Tuesday at 8:40.

Miss Kontopanos Named Counselor

Miss Constance Marie Kontopanos, of Virginia Beach, along with Misses Margaret Rawls and Harriette Seely, of Norfolk, has been appointed Upperclass Counselor at Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia.

Each counselor, who was chosen by the cabinets and officers of the three largest campus organizations because of her loyalty to the school and participation in its varied activities, will work with a group of eight or ten freshmen, interpreting college to them and helping facilitate the adjustment between high school and their new environment.

Miss Kontopanos is also executive secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association.

This group of boys from Troop 60 were at camp for the first week of August and while there won an award for the best troop in camp that week.

Troop 60 is sponsored by the Men's Club of the Presbyterian Church and meets every Friday night at their building on 32nd Street at 7:30. The chairman of the Troop Committee is Landon Hillard. Others members are A. W. Turnbull, S. S. Kellam, Wythe Lee, G. E. Willis, Russell Hatchett and E. A. Darden.

William K. Macdonald, Jr., is Scoutmaster.

There are several openings in the troop and any boys who have reached their 11th birthday are invited to join.

Lane Says Crimson Clover Seed Supply Short, Prices High

Farmers planning to use crimson clover for winter cover may find that seed are scarce, the Production and Marketing Administration said this week.

The crimson clover seed crop this year was disappointing, according to R. W. Lane, PMA County chairman, and he explained why.

Severe April frosts and rains during the blossoming period drastically lowered seed yields in producing areas of Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky, although the acreage set aside for seed was larger than last year. The total crimson clover seed harvest from these four states will be only about 12.5 million pounds compared to a record crop of over 18 million pounds in 1949.

Virginia gets most of its crimson clover seed from Tennessee where the crop this year amounts to only 4 million pounds. Last year Tennessee yielded over twice that much—a total of 9.7 million pounds. For this reason prices are expected to be up somewhat.

Tentative Budget Shows Increase For School Operation

An annual town budget for 1950-51 totaling $854,999.61 was given the nod at the regular meeting of the town council on Tuesday afternoon. A special meeting will probably be called soon to pass the budget on second reading, as required by law.

The budget, which becomes effective September 1, includes $100,625 for the operation of schools during the next fiscal year.

The present operating budget of $759,621, provides $87,400 for operation of schools.

Councilman R. L. Simpson, chairman of the finance committee, said members were "well pleased" with the budget and that everyone concerned—town officials and the heads of various departments—had "worked hard to arrange the budget so that no increase in taxes was necessary."

Mr. Simpson said that the council's aim now is to operate on the best level and as economically as possible.

At that point, Councilman H. E. Halstead added that the budget had been "cut to the bone."

"This is not the time to raise taxes," he said. "There are big things to come to Virginia Beach which will require tax increases, and we must live close to earth in the meantime."

The $854,999.61 budget includes a capital outlay of $90,000 for water main extensions from the Beach through north Virginia Beach to Fort Story.

Army Service Notice

Notice has been served on the town by the Second Army District that after this Summer the Beach will not be allowed to tap the Fort Story main to supplement pressure to the north end of the Beach, as it has done for the past two summer seasons. For that reason, Virginia Beach, which supplies that part of Princess Anne County, will have to increase the water supply to the north end of the Beach by installing a 12-inch water main from the town limits to 63rd Street.

A breakdown of disbursements in the 1950-51 budget follows: Administrative, $60,400; police, $68,125; fire, $38,300; Street Department, $67,040; water and sewers, $128,000; sanitation and health, $30,000; sewage, $31,670; recreation, $30,000; debt service, $312,947; capital outlay, $90,000; mosquito control, $12,163; all schools, $100,000.

It was pointed out that these figures are subject to revision and are not final.

The council also approved a $35,000 tax anticipation note for the jetty construction project, work on which is nearing completion at 7th Street at the south end of the boardwalk.

Purchase Authorized

The council also passed an ordinance, prepared after its special meeting last week, authorizing the purchase of the Norfolk Southern Railway right-of-way on Pacific Avenue and the town playground property, bounded by 19th and 20th streets and Pacific and Arctic avenues.

The track also comprises some 75 lots, for which the town is offering the railway $18,000, and the ordinance authorizes an offer of $17,000 for the playground block.

In event that efforts to purchase the parcels of land meet with failure, Town Attorney Roy Smith is empowered to begin condemnation proceedings.

Mr. Smith said that the offer already had been made and that an August 10 deadline had been set for a reply. On Tuesday he said he had not heard from the Norfolk Southern.

Bids for the annual audit of the town books were received, and the contract went to M. L. Goodman of Norfolk, for $750.

PHONE 282

Entered as second class matter August 7, 1925, at the Post Office of Virginia Beach, Virginia, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

DEAR MR. GOVERNOR:

We were especially interested in an Associated Press story which appeared under an August 7 dateline: "Warren Orders Florida Gambling Out in 30 Days." The story told how Governor Fuller Warren, of Florida, clamped a 30-day deadline on Florida gambling in personally signed letters to the State's 67 sheriffs and 185 constables. He told each officer if he found any gambling in his bailiwick after that date, the officer would be suspended.

While it is a pity that the State's chief executive had to resort to such drastic action to clean up a situation that he had come to believe was harmful to the State's well being, it nevertheless shows that with determination, a governor CAN open his eyes to the hard fact that a firm stand often has to be taken.

In your case, we realize that forcing action in Princess Anne County to end the lawlessness would be like having to punish a favorite child—but you know, as well as we, the experts notwithstanding, that even a favorite child benefits from a good stern spanking now and then, especially when he has learned that defiance of our rules has gone too long ignored.

The grand jury investigation that Judge Kellam called in June, 1945, recommended that trouble spots in the county which refused to comply with the laws should be "policed to death" with constant raids. Further, Judge Kellam added to this his agreement, calling upon the county and town police to "police these places to death," and spoke sternly about the widespread existence of slot machines, which he called "the one-arm bandit."

Following on the heels of the grand jury, ABC officers raided some 18 night clubs. Charges against the operators of these establishments and others were subsequently dismissed when the Commonwealth's Attorney failed to show that these gentlemen were "aiding, abetting, and maintaining a nuisance" (in spite of the fact that a majority of them had been before the bar of justice repeatedly on charges growing out of similar raids within the past few years).

Yet, it would appear from what we hear from habitués of these places that the bootleggers are still bootlegging; the nip joints and strip tease spots are still "entertaining"; the gaming rooms are still open; whiskey is being sold illegally; the slots are still operating; and the bookies still making book.

Do you suppose that if you took a tip from your colleagues, the good Governor from Florida, that it would help?

LOOKING BACK

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO — AUGUST 9, 1925

A town budget of $128,156 for the year's running expenses and a town tax rate of $5.50 per hundred dollars was adopted at the regular August meeting of the town council, the Virginia Beach News of August 9, 1925 reported. This amount included $5,000 for streets; $28,000 for water; $3,500 for fire department; $8,000 for police; and $13,000 for schools.

A novel contest at Seaside Park was announced. It was to be called Pajama Day, and was held on August 18. None other than the famous W. O. Saunders of the Elizabeth City Independent was to judge the affair in person. Mr. Saunders had recently been the subject of wide newspaper comment following his appearance in the streets of Elizabeth City clad in blue night wear. His appearance was to demonstrate that pajamas are practical as a cool and comfortable summer garment.

In the personal columns: From Princess Anne—The Sunday School of Nimmo Church was to hold the annual picnic at Seaside Park, Virginia Beach.

From Pungo—Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Land, of Norfolk, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Capozzi.

The Rev. and Mrs. Porter Hardy and Miss Frances Hardy motored to Suffolk Monday to visit relatives.

From Lynnhaven—Mrs. H. C. Gumbert and Grace Harness spent Tuesday with Mrs. T. J. Garrett, of Oceanside.

Henry Rogers and Lindsay J. DePress returned from Camp Kauts on the York River.

From Princess Anne it was reported that as Sheriff J. C. Litchfield was carrying Jesse Mitchell from a trial at which he was sent on to the grand jury, he broke in to a run and was shot twice by the sheriff, but he did not stop. He was searched for for several hours, but was not found.

The paper announced a change of name in this issue. Previously, it had been the Virginia Beach Weekly; as of this issue, it became the Virginia Beach News.

Sen. Robertson Thinks Recent Increased Prices Not Justified

"I do not think increased prices are justified," said A. Willis Robertson, Senator from Virginia, in a speech on the Senate floor recently. In discussing the rise in commodity prices resulting from the Korean situation, Senator Robertson said:

"I beg the American people not to be stampeded by the threat of war. I beg the manufacturers of this country not to be selfish."

Text of Senator Robertson's remarks follows:

"Prices are now increasing by leaps and bounds. I do not think increased prices are justified. I read in a New York newspaper that it was said we were buying 1,000 tons of sugar from the Philippines for delivery in August and September, and paying 6 cents a pound for it. Everyone knows there is plenty of sugar. Everyone knows that Cuba has a million tons of surplus sugar which, up to this point, she has not known what to do with. Either such statements are merely false propaganda to start a run by housewives to get sugar or else the 1,000 tons of sugar are being purchased in order to raise the price of the other thousands of tons which are already here, and which are owned in Cuba, to be unloaded at an unconscionable price.

"I note that the steel companies, with no increase in the cost of steel, were operating at full capacity, with full employment. I saw where the manufacturers had advanced the price of stainless steel, which is in sharp demand, thus taking advantage of this situation to gouge the public. I read that cotton advanced $10 a bale in one day, although the crop reports show that the coming cotton crop will be more than can be used domestically. Certainly we have a big surplus which the Government owns. I read that the price of hogs went up in Chicago $1 a hundred in one day, although a few days before, the crop report showed a great increase in the prospective corn crop, and there has been a great increase in the number of hogs moved to market, farmers taking advantage of the war psychology.

"Mr. President, I am on the Senate committee which must consider another OPA if it comes. I am on the committee which must consider allocations of scarce materials, if it comes. I am on the committee which must consider all questions affecting war controls, if the Congress is forced by the greed and selfishness of producers and distributors, because of war psychology, to impose controls for the protection of the consuming public, and to put our economy in a straightjacket. Nothing could please the Kremlin more than that. We do not get maximum production under Government control—we never have, and we never will. But if prices are pushed up and up and up, Congress may be forced to impose controls, and the men in the Kremlin will smile, because they know that our production will be reduced and they will then lift the war cloud and say, 'Well, let us have some peace; we really were not interested in Korea, anyway; that was the fight of the North Koreans—we did not have anything to do with it.' We shall then be plunged into the worst depression we ever saw, and will play right into the hands of the Kremlin."

"I beg the American people not

Wheat Allotments To Remain for '51, But No Quotas

No marketing quotas will be proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture for the 1951 wheat crop, but acreage allotments, to be issued at a later date, will be in force.

This announcement was received by the local office of the Production and Marketing Administration from R. E. Bridgforth, FMA State Chairman.

Bridgforth pointed out that the present law requires that marketing quotas be proclaimed when the total supply of wheat exceeds the normal supply by more than 20 per cent, or when the average monthly farm price of wheat for three successive months has not been more than 65 per cent of parity.

Neither of these conditions exists, Bridgforth said, largely because farmers generally cooperated by planting within acreage allotments in 1950, thus keeping supplies and demand in balance. He also noted that prices held well above the minimum of 65 per cent of parity because farmers put a substantial part of the 1949 wheat under price support.

If wheat growers generally plant within their 1951 acreage allotments, as they did for the current 1950 crop, Bridgforth considered it possible to continue to avoid marketing quotas in the future.

The chairman explained that under a marketing quota program, growers are subject to strict penalties on any crop marketed in excess of the production from the allotted farm acreage. Under the acreage allotment plan, there are no marketing penalties and growers who exceed their allotted acreage are not eligible for price support.

Legislation under which wheat acreage allotments are established requires that they be proclaimed each year by the secretary of agriculture unless a national emergency exists. The 1951 national allotment will be based on estimated needs for the coming year after making allowance for the supply of wheat on hand on July 1, 1950. Announcement of the 1951 wheat allotment will probably be made about mid-July.

Meanwhile, Bridgforth said that Virginia counties are now about to commence work on setting up of seeding time.

The First Presbyterian Church was the setting Saturday night at 8:00 o'clock for the marriage of Miss Jacquelyn Wood Osborne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Stanley Osborne, to William Wyche Ross, of Lawrenceville. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Jason Leon MacMillan, pastor of the Norfolk church, in the presence of relatives and friends. The church was arranged with palms, baskets of white flowers and lighted candles. Horace Jones, organist, played the wedding music and Mrs. Joseph Godwin sang "Calm is the Night" and "Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in a gown of ivory satin, fashioned with sweetheart neckline outlined with seed pearls and iridescent sequins, and long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. VA Explains GI Educational Bill For Veterans

Veterans Administration has offered advice to veterans of World War II who plan to take advantage of educational provisions of the GI Bill by attending school or college next fall, to help them avoid any difficulties at the last moment.

In making recommendations, VA divided veterans planning to take or resume training into five groups. First are former servicemen and women who have taken some training and plan to continue the same course at the same school or college. The only requirement for them is to make sure the school or college has a place reserved for them for the fall term.

In the second group are veterans who wish to continue the same course of training they have al-

Atlantic Rural Exposition Lists $33,429 in Premiums for 1950

The 1950 premium catalog of the Atlantic Rural Exposition, listing $33,429.45 in premiums for the fall fair to be held in Richmond September 28 through October 7, is being distributed to over 7,000 exhibitors and potential exhibitors in 13 states, Herbert B. Thomson, president of the exposition announced.

Premiums offered in the nine major departments are about $2,000 more than last year with $28,000 of the total amount to be paid by the State of Virginia. Entries for beef cattle, dual purpose cattle, dairy cattle, sheep, swine and junior division close on September 9. Entries for farm products and apples close on September 14 and ready taken, but in a different school or college. These veterans must obtain a supplemental certificate from VA and list on it the name of the new school and the name of the course they want to take. This application must be sent to the VA regional office which has jurisdiction over the school they are now attending, and should be received by that office at least 30 days in advance of the school term.

The third group consists of veterans who wish to study a different course from the one they have been pursuing. These should apply immediately for a supplemental certificate. If the new course is in the same general field as their present one, they will receive the certificate in regular fashion. However, if the new course is in a different field of study, the veteran has to submit full justification for the change. If the proof submitted is not sufficient, VA will inform him he may apply for advisement and guidance, to determine the need for the change of course and whether the student has the aptitudes required for it.

In group four are veterans who plan to take advantage of their educational benefits for the first time. They must apply to their nearest VA office for an original certificate of eligibility and it should be done as soon as possible. The veteran must include a photostatic copy of his discharge papers.

In the last group are veterans who started school at one time, then for some reason dropped out and wish to resume GI Bill training. They need VA approval to re-enter training and several weeks is sometimes required to complete these arrangements.

for poultry on September 16. Exhibitors may bring exhibits to the exposition grounds any time after September 28, except poultry on September 28.

Allen K. Randolph is general superintendent of the livestock departments and J. J. Bower and George A. Bower will head the poultry department. The Junior division will be in charge of W. E. Skelton of V. F. I.

The 4-H and FFA judging contests will take place on Monday, October 2 as well as the judging of poultry and junior dairy cattle. On Tuesday, October 3 the judging of Aberdeen-Angus and junior beef cattle, Guernsey, sheep and swine will take place. Shorthorn, milking Shorthorn, Holstein-Friesians and some classes of swine will be judged on Wednesday, October 4. The final judging of Herford and Jerseys will take place on Thursday, October 5. The new catalog contains 144 pages and is slightly larger than last year's list. Copies are available upon request from the Atlantic Rural Exposition, Richmond.

Government Offers Book On "Effects of Atomic Weapons"

A description of just what happens when an atomic bomb explodes will soon be available to the public in an official Government document now being printed at the Government Printing Office. Entitled "The Effects of Atomic Weapons," the book will be released about August 1, and advance orders may now be placed with the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C. at $1.35 per copy. All proceeds from the sale go to the Government.

Of primary interest to persons engaged in civilian defense and the building trades, the book contains previously unpublished details on atomic explosions, the damage caused by the atomic bombs in Japan is examined with estimates of the probable effects on American cities. The types of buildings which best withstand the shock and the hazards of various radiations are described and illustrated.

The book was prepared by the Atomic Energy Commission from non-confidential scientific and technical information. It is the most informative and authoritative book on atomic weapons which can be made public and the most significant document to be published since the dropping of the bomb.

It says SUCCESS-with SPIRIT

First of the Fine Cars in Value

YOU can see this man has made his mark in life, and while his heart's still young.

You can tell he likes action for his money—that he knows a fine car needn't be the most expensive to give the greatest value.

Yes, such are the things you know of any man, when you note that his car is a ROADMASTER.

Follow him on his spirited way as he pilots this lively motorcar through traffic. Even the lightweights are no match for this road-steady husky—not with the 152-horsepower straight-eight Fireball engine that purrs beneath its bonnet.

Maneuver beside him at the next stop light. Then just try to get away as smoothly, swiftly and silently as Dynaflow Drive gets his ROADMASTER going—and keeps it rolling without shifting, even automatically.

But don't waste time merely envying the man in this great car! Why not emulate him?

With all its outside room, interior luxury and exterior grace—with all its front-rank prestige, rare performance and matchless ride—a ROADMASTER can be yours for less than some smaller cars cost.

In fact, even if you had a fortune to spend, you couldn't make a more fortunate buy in the fine-car field.

So we suggest you try a few minutes behind the wheel. We're confident they will convince you that ROADMASTER has everything you could ever ask for in any motorcar—although your Buick dealer asks a good bit less for other top-line cars.

Marine Corps Says Requirements for Enlistment Modified

Major John Marston, Jr., USMC, chief in-charge of Marine Corps recruiting in Virginia, announced his week that the requirements for enlistment and re-enlistment in the Regular Marine Corps had been modified. Effective this date, color perception is not required and dental requirements are modified so that applicants are required only to have sufficient natural and/or artificial teeth to insure satisfactory mastication.

In addition, special regulations have been set up to permit the enlistment of veteran Marine Corps Reservists and former Marines for a year of temporary active duty.

Veteran Marine Corps Reservists with the rank of sergeant or below who meet current Marine Corps enlistment standards who desire assignment to one year of active duty must make application at their local Marine Corps Recruiting Office. To be considered a veteran Marine Corps Reservist, he must have had a minimum of 90 days service in the regular Marine Corps, or 36 drills and two annual field training periods, or 72 drills and one annual field training period.

Requirements and quotas for Marine Corps Reservists above the rank of sergeant and for veteran Women Marines and Women Marine Reservists are to be promulgated later.

Veteran Marines who were not in the Marine Corps Reserve prior to this date may enlist in the Reserve for a year of active duty on the following basis: a master sergeant enlisting after one year of separation will be enlisted as a sergeant and a technical sergeant will be enlisted as a corporal. Other ranks will be enlisted as private first class.

Only men who are enlisting at the rank of sergeant with more than seven years of service or at a higher rank will be accepted if they are married or have dependents.

Veteran Marines who enlist for a year of temporary active duty at a reduced rank will, if the Marine Corps Reserve are mobilized, be reappointed to the rank from which reduced.

Applications for enlistment or reappointment for a year of active duty will be accepted at the Marine Corps Recruiting Office, which is located in this area in the Post Office Building, Norfolk. This office will be open every day of the week including Saturdays and Sundays during this emergency period.

Spraying Tree Trunks Kills Peach Borer

Spraying peach tree trunks to control the peach tree borer is rapidly replacing older, more difficult methods of control.

M. L. Bobb, associate entomologist at the Piedmont Field Station at Charlottesville, says that the trunk-spraying method is safe for trees of all ages, and also is time-saving and less expensive than the older methods.

In the past, growers have used other methods—such as applying insecticides to the soil around the base of the tree.)

The insecticide DDT now is the recommended control material. In tests at the Piedmont station, DDT in the liquid and wettable forms continues to give excellent control of the peach tree borer when two applications are made—the first in early July and the second in mid-August. The diluted spray should contain 0.5 per cent of DDT.

CARE FOR VETERANS

Of the 110,675 patients in Veterans' Administration hospitals in February of this year (1966), only 36,726 were service-connected cases. The remaining 73,949, or 66.5 per cent of the total number, were non-service-connected cases.

Annual appropriation for the Navy's medical arm was $68,000 in the 1960's. There were at that time 69 surgeons and 59 assistant surgeons in that service.

District Highway Department Officials Promise Supervisors To Ask Road Mileage Increase

5 Per Cent Increase In Secondary Mileage To Be Recommended

District Highway Department officials will recommend to the State Highway Department that roads in Princess Anne County should be added to the State's secondary system at a rate five times faster than the existing rate in an effort to solve one of the county's most pressing problems. The recommendation is the outgrowth of a special meeting on Tuesday between the supervisors of the county and the District Highway Department.

Under the present formula of the State Highway Department, only 1 per cent of a county's existing secondary roads are absorbed into the state system in any one year. A recommendation of 5 per cent increase per year for the next two years resulted from the conference.

The county has about 300 miles of secondary roads now maintained by the state, but 45 more miles have been recommended for inclusion as secondary roads, according to Supervisor Walter C. Maher, of Lynnhaven District.

At the present rate, it would require 15 years to take up the backlog, and by that time the county would have many miles of additional roads that would qualify for inclusion.

The supervisors pointed out the high tourist traffic and the suburban character of much of the county as factors in the development of roads of secondary characteristics faster than the state absorbs them.

Conferring with the supervisors on this knotty problem of several years were Resident Engineer E. D. Hubbard, Suffolk District Engineer J. M. Hogan, and Commissioner Sol W. Rawls, of Franklin. The board's recommendation will be forwarded to the State Highway Commission.

Chesapeake Beach Ladies to Present Fashions at Fair

The Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach will present a tabeau of old-time fashions worn in Princess Anne County many years ago, at the Princess Anne County Fair, Seaside Park, on Saturday afternoon, September 9 at three o'clock in the ballroom. The tabeau will be under the direction of Alice Brewer White, woman's director of radio station WTAR and fashion director of the fair.

Committee chairman from the Chesapeake Beach Woman's Club have been named as follows: staging, Mrs. Henry Hedley; music, Mrs. J. L. Judge; models, Mrs. R. G. Hines; fashions, Mrs. L. L. Dillon; publicity, Mrs. E. L. Cooper. Women residing in Princess Anne County having old-fashioned costumes which they would like to have shown, or show themselves by participating in the tabeau, are asked to call Mrs. Dillon, Norfolk 48917, or Mrs. Cooper, 48908.

Stylish from the ray-nineties through the Charleston-ers are desired, especially formal ball and wedding gowns.

Cornerstone Ceremonies Today At Mayflower

Lt. Gov. Collins Heads Distinguished Guest List for Big Event

Cornerstone laying ceremonies for the Mayflower Apartments, the tallest residential building in Virginia and perhaps the tallest home structure on the East Coast from Philadelphia to Miami, will be held today.

Lt. Gov. Lewis Preston Collins, of Marion, will be among the guests who will attend the ceremonies. W. Russell Hatcher, commissioner of revenue for Princess Anne County, will act as master of ceremonies.

More than 150 guests were invited to attend, including town and county officials, R.F.C. officials, and Norfolk and Virginia Beach business leaders, according to a spokesman for the corporation.

The 16-story colosseum, on which construction was begun late last summer, measures 171 feet from its basement floor to the top of the penthouses. It rests on more than 700 piles going down 55 feet into the earth.

Following the ceremony at the apartments, a buffet luncheon for the guests will be held.

The 271-unit apartments, to be rented on a year-around basis, are scheduled to be ready for occupancy September 1, according to F. A. VanPatten, of the Mayflower Corporation.

Cornerstone Laying Ceremonies Sunday At Temple Emanuel

Rabbi Paul Reich of Beth El Temple, Norfolk, will speak at the cornerstone laying ceremonies of Temple Emanuel on Sunday, August 20, at 2:30 p.m.

In charge of the ceremonies of the new synagogue, which is located at 25th and Baltic Avenue, will be Mos Richter.

The building is expected to be completed in November at a cost of $44,000. It is to be completely air conditioned. The main sanctuary will seat 225 persons, and two Sunday school rooms will be so constructed that if necessary the walls may be swung open to seat an additional 100 people.

The building will also be used as a community center. It is of conservatively modern design and of masonry construction. A striking Symbolic Tower of Crab Orchard Quarantine Stone will rise 30 feet above the building.

Facts About Poliomyelitis Given By State Health Department

"With the incidence of poliomyelitis much higher throughout the state this summer, and especially in the Wytheville area, parents need to know as much as they can about the disease," Dr. L. J. Roper, State Health Commissioner, said this week as he reviewed the general medical aspects of polio and possible preventive measures.

In an attempt to familiarize apprehensive parents as much as possible with the nature of poliomyelitis, Dr. Roper discussed the disease in the form of a series of questions and answers:

1. How long does it take to develop poliomyelitis after a person has been exposed to the disease? "Usually it is somewhere between seven and 14 days but this is not a definite rule. The time varies from case to case. For example, some cases may develop three days after exposure, and others have been known to take as long as 35 days."
2. How is poliomyelitis spread from one person to another? "Frankly, the medical profession does not know much about that. There are three commonly held theories: (1) Polio is trans-

"Blithe Spirit" Is Current Play By Theatre-Go-Round

Noel Coward's Zany Comedy to Remain Through Tuesday

Noel Coward's sophisticated drawing-room comedy "Blithe Spirit," opened last night at the Theatre-Go-Round, popular summer stock company, and will continue through Tuesday of next week.

One of his latest plays, Mr. Coward's weird and witty tale about a writer who finds himself surrounded by two wives—one a ghost—has proved to be among his most popular works.

It was originally produced in London with Coward himself in the leading role. The New York production, starring Clifton Webb, ran for several seasons. In the last ten years the comedy has been offered by stock companies, touring companies, university groups, and nearly every Little Theatre group from Boston to Berkeley. Everywhere it has met with high acclaim.

The eighth week of circle-style legitimate theatre at the resort finds Robert O'Flaherty, co-producer of Theatre-Go-Round, in the leading role of Charles Condomine. Lesley Savage appears as Elvira, his first wife, and Rita Martens as Ruth, his second wife. Paulette San Marchi portrays the role of Madame Arcati, the eccentric medium.

Mrs. W. Carey Penington, a local resident, plays the role of Mrs. Bradman in this week's production of "Blithe Spirit" at Theatre-Go-Round. Long interested in the theatre, Mrs. Penington has been especially active in Virginia Beach Little Theatre work and the Children's Theatre of Norfolk, of which she is now president. She was last seen in the Beach Little Theatre production "You Can't Take It With You." During the summer she has given much special assistance to the staff at Theatre-Go-Round.

Others in the cast this week are Robert Phillips as Dr. Bradman, and Marianne Duess as Edith. Supervising the many, spiritualistic proceedings is Jon Dawson, the group's permanent director.

Performances begin nightly at 8:40. Reservations may be made by writing or phoning the Box Office at Virginia Beach 1170. The tent theatre is located near the corner of Atlantic Avenue and 31st Street.

Council Appropriates $6,000 for Rock Fill To Protect Seawall

In a last ditch struggle to save the sand beach at the south end of the boardwalk, a 750-foot extension to the jetty at Seventh Street and an appropriation of $6,000 toward a rock fill in front of the boardwalk from Eighth to Tenth streets were approved Tuesday by the Virginia Beach Town Council at a special session.

The petition for an extension to the recently completed 250-foot jetty was signed by five hotel owners at the south end of the Beach. It was presented by C. T. Whitehead, spokesman for the Erosion Corporation of Virginia Beach.

The group asked for no financial assistance, but only for the town's approval and cooperation with the Army Engineers in making the extended jetty possible. Ship to be sunk.

It was understood that the proposal would include sinking a concrete ship and stone at the base of the present jetty.

The effect of north and northwest winds could be overcome by the extended jetty, in that the seawater would be shoaled so that waves would break further offshore. Mr. Whitehead told the council. He said he believed that the extension would build up the beach for the full extent of the boardwalk (up to 34th Street). Signers of the petition, in addition to Mr. Whitehead, were James Gumsy, James Standing, Wesley Gardner, and Charles P. Gay.

Of that group, Mr. Whitehead, Mr. Gumsy and Mr. Gay were present. They also asked that a granite fill be placed immediately under the boardwalk from Eighth to Tenth streets "to save the boardwalk."

Rip-rap stone up to three tons in size should be used, they said. That supposedly would hold the sea from pounding the seawall and would be an insurance against the seawall being washed out during a storm.

The hotelmen were emphatic that work must be done at once. "A storm would wash out the entire walkway at the south end of the beach unless the work is done at once," they declared.

On Ocean Side
The plan, as explained to the council, is for the rock to come about five feet above the bottom step from the boardwalk, to extend about 10 feet out from the seawall and slope toward the ocean.

In addition to the $6,000 which council appropriated for the stone protection, the south end hotel owners are expected to spend $1,500 to $2,000.

Within the last few years, the town has appropriated approximately $278,000 for the protection of the seawall. Major repairs were completed last year after the sea had washed out the sand fill beneath the boardwalk.

On second reading, the council passed its 1950-51 budget in amended form. It approved a budget of $739,374, a reduction of $18,000 from the one originally proposed.

Alice Speight, W. L. Myers Married at Galilee Wednesday

The marriage of Miss Alice Webster Speight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Clark Speight, of Richmond, to William Lee Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Samuel Myers, of Virginia Beach, took place Wednesday afternoon at the Galilee Episcopal Church. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Edmund Berkeley, rector of the church. The altar of the church was arranged with white cut flowers and lighted candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Candelight satin fashioned with a sheer yoke outlined with inscriptions of shirred satin. The fitted bodice ended in scallops and the skirt formed a wide circular train. Her veil of illusion was arranged from a wide bandeau of illusion trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a white satin prayer book topped with a white orchid. Her only ornament was an heirloom pearl necklace belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Charles Webster. She had as her matron of honor and only attendant her sister, Mrs. Robert R. Raber, of Norfolk.

Howard Samuel Myers was best man for his son. The groomsmen were Alfred Craft, Jr., and Vincent Barber.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the American Legion Club. Later in the afternoon the couple left for a motor trip through the Valley of Virginia. Upon their return Mr. Myers will go to Mitchell Field, Texas, while Mrs. Myers will remain at Virginia Beach.

The wedding was to have taken place Wednesday, August 30, but due to military orders of the bridegroom the date was changed.

PRINCESS ANNE WOMEN

The second annual Princess Anne County Fair which is slated for September 8 through the balance of the week is causing excited anticipation throughout the county, for it appears that the sponsors have every intention of bringing us a bigger and better fair than last year's outstanding event.

The Woman's Club of Princess Anne County, along with their co-sponsors, the Princess Anne Ruritan Club, deserve the praise of us all for giving us this sample of solidarity between county and town as well as bringing together the cultural, artistic and agricultural gifts of our own people.

The fair is a fine and splendid thing, and the two civic organizations which are laboring so hard for it this year are worthy of Princess Anne County's most heartfelt congratulations.

THE SCHOOL REFERENDUM

September 19 has been set aside by Judge Floyd Kellam for a referendum of Virginia Beach's voters to decide whether or not to go ahead with the construction of a first rate high school for the Beach. The money has already been made available, $700,000, through a Literary Fund grant, and the referendum will decide merely if the people believe that the school is in order at this time.

A high school is badly needed at Virginia Beach, it seems to us. The rapid growth of the town over the last decade will probably continue. The elementary school now is crowded beyond capacity, even though additions have been added in recent years, and the high school that is planned would take some of the load off Cooke School by taking over the upper classes at Cooke into a junior high school department.

Voters should lose no time in giving thought to the school issue, and making it a point to learn as much as possible about the situation. Moreover, they must demonstrate to the town's governing body their real interest in having the high school by going to the polls to vote in favor of the school construction.

LOOKING BACK

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO — AUGUST 16, 1929

The Virginia Beach News for August 16, 1929, happily recounted that business was so good at the Beach that many hotels which were filled to capacity had been forced to turn away a large number of visitors. Merchants and hotel managers uniformly reported excellent business, which, they said, would have been even better except for showers on Sunday afternoon.

The big pajama contest, slated for Seaside Park, was drawing a lot of attention. The story about it stated that the pajama vogue was first inaugurated by W. O. Saunders, Elizabeth City editor, as a protest against uncomfortable clothing during the hot months. The News' story continued that "The drug store corner opinion is that Mr. Saunders will have to appear in BVD's or less, before there will be any appreciable excitement at Virginia Beach. Questions asked among local boys as to their participation in the contest, reveal that very few wear pajamas even at night and they are therefore without the necessary costume."

In the personal news from Lynnhaven, it was noted that Miss Mary Calk had arrived home Monday from Ryland, N. C., where she was visiting with Miss Ella Ward; and that Bob and David Calk returned to New York to bring home their sister, Miss Estelle Calk, who was attending Columbia University. They planned to return via Richmond and bring home Mrs. J. W. Calk, and Jack, and Mrs. G. H. Harris.

The Junior Missionary Society of the Kanesville Baptist Church planned a lawn party the following Saturday evening on the church grounds. The committees in charge were as follows: decoration, Miss Frances Herrick; ice cream, Miss Mary Wood; mystery

Behind the Scenes in American Business

New York—Inevitably, the shift from a cold to a hot war is bringing some changes along with the business and industrial front too. Some have already occurred (it took only about two weeks for the stock market to lose approximately a third of its entire advance for the past 12 months, for example); others will follow. Just how many and how severe the changes will be depends on how hot the war gets, but some developments are already looming up as pretty sure bets. Consumer income—and with it spending—will probably remain high. Unemployment probably won't be a real problem again for a good long time, whether or not the shooting stops in the near future. Defense spending by the government will increase, even if the Korean crisis is quickly settled. The Commerce Department is already clamping down on some of our exports; the Munitions Board will step up stockpiling of natural rubber from the Far East; and the RFC is preparing to expand synthetic rubber facilities.

Other developments in the offing include: manpower controls, stockpiling by industry, and hoarding by housewives. The latter, already in evidence on a small scale, can be expected to increase or diminish as the war news is good or bad. One ominous note on this score is the announcement that ration book plates are all made and ready for use if needed. They won't be used, though, unless and until it becomes absolutely necessary.

Meanwhile, reports from the home front indicate "business as usual." And, with purchasing power and production still rolling along in high, "as usual" today means good.

DILEMMA—The Sherman Act and the Robinson-Patman Act constitute the horns of a dilemma which confronts the American businessman, according to U. S. Steel president Benjamin F. Fairless. "If our businessman obeys the Sherman Law he is probably violating the Robinson-Patman Act, and if he obeys the Robinson-Patman Act he is almost sure to be violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Law," Fairless said.

The current anti-trust suit against the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company illustrates this businessman's dilemma. The suit is based on A & P's alleged violations of the Sherman Act. But only recently A & P was praised by Paul Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, as "one of the strongest policemen enforcing the Robinson-Patman Act provisions." Terming present anti-trust laws a "complete hedge-podge," Fairless cited a number of anti-trust suits which arose when businessmen cut their prices, tried to undersell competitors and thought they were "staying safely" on the right side of the law.

"The A & P has been accused among other things of consistently underselling its competitors," said Fairless recently. "And one of the charges in the suit the Department of Justice has brought against Du Pont is that the company lowered the price of cellophane 21 times. The anti-trust laws, he said, cannot be reconciled even with each other. 'The only way a businessman can be sure of obeying them all is just to go broke.'"

THINGS TO COME—A fold-up, six by four foot plastic boat, light and compact enough to pack on your back when collapsed, can be opened up and readied for launching in 60 seconds. . . . Add transparent and leak-proof mailboxes to the lengthening list of plastic products. The boxes have no metal hinges, pins, or other parts to rust or corrode. . . . Planning for winter in the middle of summer, a Conceptual firm has announced an electric de-icing kit that will keep your roof and eaves from icing up next January. . . . The latest thing in safety razors is an aluminum model that weighs less than an ounce. It won't whack your whiskers off any faster than your old ones, however. . . . This will make your hair stand on end: a hand-sized vacuum cleaner for woman's crowning glory manages the scalp and cleans the hair (by suction) at the same time. . . . A novel "Pilo-feeding" gadget is a contraption which automatically feeds the dog according to a predetermined schedule. A built-in foot box pops out at whatever time you want it to, says the maker.

TIN CANS—Because most people think of tin cans only in connection with food, it is surprising that the American Can Company on the numbers of cans used for non-food products are surprising. The country now uses about 30 billion metal containers per year, about one-third of which are required for such products as paint, beer, motor oil, tobacco, etc. This development is one of the most significant in the history of the can making industry. The consumption of canned foods alone has climbed 10-fold since the beginning of the century, from approximately two billion cans in 1900 to about 20 billion last year. But the use of metal containers for the non-food items has increased at an even faster rate.

Homemakers' Items

Too long a delay between harvesting and canning fresh vegetables is likely to result in spoilage and off-flavors.

Roy E. Moser, Jr., fruit and vegetable processing specialist at V.P.I., warns that vegetables start to spoil as soon as they are harvested. If they are picked and held, especially in hot weather, they will heat, just like green hay in a barn. Bacteria grow and enzyme action is stepped up. This, of course, means spoilage, and off-flavors can develop in a short time. When such a product is canned, the bacteria are killed, and the enzymes destroyed, but the off-odors and bad flavors they caused remain.

Here are Moser's tips for high quality canned products: Can your vegetables as soon as possible after harvesting.

If necessary to hold them even for a few hours, put them in your refrigerator.

Do not shell peas or otherwise prepare vegetables until just before canning.

Never eat canned food which appears to be spoiled. Do not even taste it unless it has been boiled for 15 minutes at a full boil.

Farm Accident Death Rate Over Double Other Industry Rate

Farm workers had an accidental death rate more than twice as high as workers in non-agricultural industries in 1949, the National Safety Council reports.

The 1949 death rate for farm workers was 54 per 100,000 workers, while in non-agricultural industries the average death rate was 22.

The Council's announcement of the occupational death rates gave emphasis to plans for the seventh annual National Farm Safety Week, proclaimed by President Truman for July 23-29.

Highlights of the Council's annual report on accidents to farm residents were:

1. Farm resident deaths from accidents were 17,000 in 1949, about the same as in 1948. Injuries totaled about 1,600,000.
2. Farm home deaths totaled 5,000, with approximately 750,000 nonfatal injuries.
3. Motor vehicles killed 6,500 farm residents in 1949 and injured 230,000 more.
4. The total of 4,300 farm work deaths was down slightly—3 per cent—from 1948. Farm work deaths accounted for more than 25 per cent of the nation's occupational death toll for 1949.
5. Public non-motor vehicle deaths, such as drownings, took the lives of about 2,000 farm residents.

On the basis of these figures the Council said that one of every 17 farm residents in the United States will suffer a disabling injury from an accident in 1950.

In the hope that more precaution will characterize farm life this year, farm and safety leaders throughout the nation are mobilizing for National Farm Safety Week to call attention to the heavy accident toll, and to educate farm residents in the measures that will prevent mishaps.

Richard Gary Harris, 71, husband of the late Mary Miller Harris and son of the late William Hunter and Susan Gary Harris, died Saturday at a Norfolk hospital.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Sue Harris Gay, of Norfolk; a son, Francis Gary Harris, of Virginia Beach; a sister, Mrs. George A. Renn, of Norfolk, and three grandchildren.

Mr. Harris was a native of Garysburg, N. C., and had been a resident of Norfolk and Virginia Beach 65 years.

Funeral services were conducted at the Holomon-Brown Funeral Home on Monday. Burial was in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Supervisors Have Authority To Stop Dogs Roaming

Many citizens appear to be unaware of State law which authorizes the county board of supervisors to prohibit the running at large of dogs during such months as they may designate, according to the director of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, I. T. Quinn. For the purpose of the act, a dog is deemed to be running at large while roaming, running or self-baiting off the property of its owner or custodian and not under its owner's or custodian's immediate control.

Power within 10 counties have taken advantage of this provision, although there are mounting complaints of dogs damaging farm property in the summer months. It is generally believed that dogs at large during the breeding season constitute one of the worst of all menaces to normal reproduction of the various species.

It is the duty of the game wardens to enforce this and any person who, after having been duly notified that his dog or dogs are running at large permits his dogs to do so thereafter is deemed to have violated the law and is liable to fine.

Fifth of People Produce Food for Rest of Nation

U. S. agricultural policy and programs have made it possible for less than 20 per cent of our people who live on the land to produce an abundance for the other 80 per cent, says R. E. Bridgforth, chairman of the Virginia Production and Marketing Association State Committee.

He points out that in 1880—100 years ago—about 70 per cent of the people in the United States lived on the land and had it not been for the abundance of game, hunting that there are satisfactory carry-overs of most species of game, and the breeding season is critical as far as the year's increase is concerned. There can be little doubt that many nests are destroyed by many young of deer, rabbits and other species are victims of stray dogs which hunt night and day during the breeding season.

There is no Statewide law on the subject in Virginia, as there is in many States, but it is definitely to the advantage of landowners and wildlife conservationists when county boards of supervisors exercise their right to enact such ordinances in the counties.

many of them would have had "skin pickings." Today, less than 20 per cent of the people in the United States live on the land and yet they are able to produce abundantly for the 130 to 135 million people who live in towns and cities.

Mr. Bridgforth points out that one of the major reasons for the progress in U. S. agriculture is the progressive attitude taken toward agriculture in this country. People here increasingly realize that the country cannot be prosperous unless agriculture is prosperous. Only then can the farmer produce abundantly, and maintain his land so that it will continue to produce abundantly.

In the chairman's words, research, conservation and improved marketing are encouraged and supported by the government and through price protection farmers are able to take advantage of the resulting more effective construction methods, better machinery, improved varieties of crops and more effective insecticides and fungicides.

PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT BY 1945

Hybrid Corn Most Popular with Our County Farmers

Hybrid corn was planted on 77.1 per cent of the nation's corn acreage this year, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports. But the 64,870,000 acres in hybrid this year is over three million acres below that in 1949, due to reduced planting in commercial areas under the 1950 acreage allotment program of the Production and Marketing Administration.

Wide variation exists between different states in the percentage of hybrid seed used. In corn belt states, nearly 100 per cent of the corn is hybrid. In Georgia and Alabama where there are large acreages of corn, only about 17 per cent is hybrid.

Virginia has about 800,000 acres in hybrids, which is 78 per cent of the total corn planted in 1950. That's a 2 per cent increase over 1949, according to FMA County Chairman R. W. Lane in quoting the department's report.

In Princess Anne County about 10,500 acres of corn were planted this year, according to H. W. Oslin, county agent, and he estimates 86 per cent to be in hybrid varieties.

Chairman Lane reminded farmers that price support on corn this year will be effected through loans and purchase agreements that will be available at harvest time. The actual support rates, based on parity as of October 1, will not be announced until after that date.

Orchard Grass Seed More Plentiful and Cheaper This Year

The orchard grass seed crop this year will break all records. And that's good news to Virginia farmers who are big users of this grass for pasture, especially in a mixture with ladino clover, R. W. Lane, FMA county chairman said.

Quoting a U. S. Department of Agriculture report, Mr. Lane said the orchard grass seed production this year will pass 16 million pounds, compared to last year's 4,626,900 pounds, the previous record. Most orchard grass seed comes from Northern Virginia and Kentucky.

Contributing to this high production was the average of 55,000 bushels per acre, and the 16.7 bushel yield, the next largest on record. The crop is also of very fine quality, the department's report stated, due to wide use of nitrogen and use of such 2, 4-D to control wild onions.

Chairman Lane said that the Extension Service tests show that a mixture of ladino clover and orchard grass will produce more high-protein, succulent grazing for cows than any other combination of clovers and grasses now used in Virginia.

First of the Fine Cars in Value

This is HENRY & TAYLOR, INC. Newark, every Monday evening

It's a very satisfying feeling

YES; it's good to slip into a truly fine automobile and sense its richness, its comfort; its room.

And there's a great thrill in touching off the waiting power of a great-hearted straight-ought and feeling its swift response at any speed.

It's fun to count the quick, admiring glances thrown your way.

It's nice to have a car that parks easily, for all its inches. It's very pleasant to do away with gear-shifting and clutch-pedal pushing, and know in its stead the utter smoothness of Dynaflow Drive's alien transmission of power.

And still that doesn't probe the depths of a ROADMASTER owner's secret satisfaction.

For while he knows he has a fine car, by its look, its feel, its appointments—

While he has performance at his command that needs play second fiddle to no other on the road—

While he enjoys a very special measure of creature comfort in the quite matchless gentleness of ROADMASTER's ever-level ride— He knows too that he has made an exceptionally wise investment. He has spent his money for the things that make a fine car fine—and nothing simply for show.

He has paid the lowest price per pound in the fine-car field—he has the very satisfying feeling of knowing his dollars have given him solid merit, and solid merit alone.

We'd like to have you try ROADMASTER in honest comparison with the highest-priced cars to be found. We'd like to have you try to match it for room, for comfort; for finish, for handling ease and for ability on the road.

Then check the prices—and see if your own sense of value doesn't advise signing up right now with your Buick dealer for a Buick ROADMASTER.

 Mrs. White added.
 The six first-place winners and six second-place winners will also appear on one of Mrs. White's television programs over WTAR-
 TV later in September.
 Anyone who has a collection of old-time fashions they would like to see worn in this event may contact Mrs. Luther B. Marshall, Jr.,

 Miss Betty Lohring, North Shore
 Point, of Norfolk. Mrs. Marshall and Miss Lohring are assisting Mrs. White in staging the fashion presentations for the fair.
 The Girl Scouts of Princess Anne County, Virginia Beach and Norfolk will have their "day" at the fair, too, for they have been invited to participate in the hat designing contest which will be staged on Saturday, September 9, at 10 a.m.
 Each Girl Scout may enter one hat, designed and trimmed by her, and she will be asked to parade around the Fashion Hall in the Millinery March before a group of judges who will award ten useful Girl Scout prizes, and first, second and third Fashion Merit Award ribbons.
 Prizes will be awarded for the prettiest, the most original, the largest, the most wearable and the most useless hats. There will also be five prizes for the Brownies, the younger Scout members, who enter hat designs.

Marketing of Spring
 Crop of Pigs to Begin
 Earlier This Year
 Marketing from the spring pig crop probably will begin earlier than usual this year.
 George Herring, animal husbandman at V. F. I., says the June pig survey showed more early-farrowed pigs than in recent years, and that good feed supplies on most farms have made it possible to push pigs along rapidly. Another factor is that hogs are being sold at somewhat lighter weights.
 During the last half of the year hog prices usually reach their peak sometime between late July and early September with a rather steady decline to the low point in December. The average decline over a period of years is near 18 per cent from the high to the low point. Mr. Herring says the seasonal decline probably will occur this year.
 Selling hogs as fast as they are ready is good business, especially in the fall months when the value of increased weight may be offset by a lower price. Farmers are advised to sell off the tops as they reach a desirable market weight—now around 200 to 220 pounds.
 Mr. Herring says Virginia farmers should keep at least the usual number of hogs, and take good care of their herds. The high level of employment and high wages expected to prevail for some time to come means an active demand for meat. Prospects for a good corn crop in Virginia and in the United States as a whole also point to a favorable future for pig breeders.

There is good evidence to indicate that the bulbar type of polio is more common in persons who have recently had an operation in the head region (tonsillectomy, adenoidectomy, tooth extractions).
 It is, therefore, advisable to discourage elective operations of the nose, throat, and mouth regions during periods of rising or high prevalence.
 6. What is the most fatal type of poliomyelitis?
 "The bulbar type. In this type the virus attacks the bulb at the base of the brain. The respiratory center lies in this portion of the brain and death may be caused by paralysis at this point."
 7. What are the chances that a particular poliomyelitis victim will suffer permanent crippling or other physical impairment?
 "Those chances are much less than most people think. An optimistic picture is painted by the National Foundation for Infants Paralysis. Suppose we consider it:
 "The expectancy at the time of the onset is that about 50 per cent will ultimately emerge free of permanent effects, that about 25 per cent will have severe permanent effects, and about five per cent to 10 per cent will die. It is estimated that of the individuals who have a residual paralysis, roughly 75 per cent may have permanent effects of such a degree that it will be necessary to supply braces and/or surgery in the rehabilitation of the individual."
 8. What is the "polio season"?
 "The polio season normally extends from about the last of June until the middle of September. So, Virginia, as far as 1956 is concerned, is right in the middle of it.

1. Single-dose vaccination.
 2. When ill, put the patient to bed and call the doctor.
 3. Remember that the National Foundation for Infants Paralysis will assist the family in procuring prompt hospitalization."

The news in the new Electric Refrigerators
 — is more storage space
 less operating cost!

 REFRIGERATORS are like clothes closets—no matter how big they are, you invariably need more space.
 Experience of users definitely proves that even a family of two needs a refrigerator with storage space of at least 7 or 8 cubic feet . . . so, it's good news that you can now get greater storage capacity in the same or less floor space occupied by your old refrigerator!
 The better planning and engineering which brought this about also resulted in thrifter operation. Thus, you save money as well as food and work . . .
 because new electric refrigerators are bigger and better . . . and electricity is cheap in VECOLand!

Washburn Named Key Man of Year by Jaycees; McClanahan Asks Group to Work for High School

State Officer Makes Key Presentation at Dinner Meeting

Winslow Willard Washburn, service manager of the Virginia Beach Sea Corporation, was named Key Man for 1960 of the Princess Anne County-Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce at the regular dinner meeting held Tuesday night at the Trafalgar-Chalfonte Hotel Coffee Shop.

In addition, the Jaycees went on record as approving and supporting the Town Council's plans for the construction of a high school at Virginia Beach. The issue comes up on September 19 at a special referendum to get public opinion as to whether or not a high school should be constructed.

The key award, the first made in the county, was made by State Jaycee Vice President L. Shields Parsons, Jr., of Norfolk. It designates Mr. Washburn as the outstanding member of the chapter this year.

He has been a member since shortly after the chapter was founded in 1947, and a member of the board of directors for two years. He was chairman last year of the group's famous beach project.

High School Referendum
Chief speaker at the Tuesday session was W. W. McClanahan, Jr., councilman, who urged the Jaycees to get busy and arouse interest in the forthcoming beach referendum on September 19.

Mr. McClanahan explained to the group that the referendum is purely a council move to discover the public's reaction to the need for a high school. Funds have already been secured from the Literary Fund in the amount of $700,000 for use in the construction if the voting public gives the proposal the go-ahead signal with its approval on September 19.

The town now owns a site of a block and a half on 24th Street, and the State granted $25,000 this year and a possible $12,500 to the town for construction purposes in the State's distribution of some $45 millions for schools.

Mr. McClanahan said that there will probably be a slight tax increase to provide for amortization of the loan.

The proposed high school would house a minimum of 250 senior high school students, and 250 junior high school students. It would be constructed for a maximum student load of 1,500. The junior high school would relieve crowding at the elementary school by taking care of all grades above the fifth.

A question and answer period followed Mr. McClanahan's address.

Junie Hudgins New Winner at Princess Anne Speedway

Junie Hudgins, operator of Hudgins Amuse Service Station, 17th Street, is the new winner at the Princess Anne Speedway. Junie, driving his fast Rhodes built No. 6, won the feature last Sunday after many weeks of trying.

George Swain was second and Dick Givins was third. Joe Weatherly, the favored driver finished seventh after a tire went flat. He was second until then.

Hudgins also won the first 10-lap heat for modified cars; while Weatherly won the second and third, and Dex Fedra won the straight stock race.

Meanwhile, Sam Elliott announced that he and Harold Hundley no longer would handle the promotion of the Princess Anne races. It has been reported that Earl Johnson would take over the promotion.

The bloodmobile will be at the Community House, 18th and Artie Avenue, all day September 11, and anyone who will donate blood may do so that day. Any information desired may be secured by calling Red Cross Headquarters at 358.

Mrs. White Among Guests to Appear in 'Lost Colony'

Author Betty Smith On Final Celebrity Night August 29

Betty Smith, whose best selling novel, "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," is scheduled to hit Broadway as a musical comedy early in 1961, and Alice Brewer White, outstanding woman of radio who is woman's director of Radio Station WTAR in Norfolk, will be guest performers in Paul Green's symphonic drama, "The Lost Colony," on Roanoke Island at Waterdale Theatre, Manteo N. C., Tuesday, August 29, the final celebrity night of the drama's current season.

"The Lost Colony" is presented in the vast and beautiful amphitheatre every night (except Monday). This season's run will end September 3. This is the 16th season of the production which has the distinction of being America's longest running outdoor production.

Betty Smith appeared as a guest performer in "The Lost Colony" last season when Kay Kyser, noted band leader also a guest. She played the difficult role of Agona, the Indian maiden who becomes the consort of Old Tom Harris, the tragicomic fool of the cast. She will play the role of Agona again on Tuesday. Mrs. White will be making her debut as a guest performer in the famous symphonic drama. Director Samuel Selden announced that she would be cast as Elizabeth Glane in the fish net scene, one of the most colorful scenes of "The Lost Colony."

Both of the guest performers are well known in North Carolina and Tidewater Virginia.

Crippled Children Attend 'Beare' Show

The boys and girls of the Cabell County Society for Crippled Children, Huntington, W. Va., who spent last week at Virginia Beach, rounded out their visit at the Beach by attending Ye Beare and Ye Cubb's Friday night performance of "Be It Ever So Humble."

Hosts for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Nick Asteris, of the Broadway Restaurant.

After the show, the children were asked to remain in their seats until after the rest of the audience had left the theatre so that the entire cast of the play might step out of character and come down into the auditorium to meet each of the children.

Eugene Sechler, of Durham, N. C., a graduate of the Atlantic Christian College in Wilson, N. C., will succeed Mr. Charles as coach at Creeds. Mr. Cox said.

C. M. Tomko was named as head football coach at Oceana. He will be assisted by F. E. Taylor and William L. Fekhardt, who is a newcomer to the county system, having recently graduated from Hampden-Sydney College.

Mr. Charles will also teach driver training and mathematics in addition to his athletic duties, according to the announcement. WTAR-TV Talent Hunt to be Feature of County Fair

Scouts Hope to Find Talent in Area to Appear on TV Shows

An opportunity for local talent hereabouts to contact WTAR's television favorite and try out for possible future WTAR-TV appearances will be offered to anyone in Princess Anne County, and the whole Tidewater area, on Friday evening, September 8, at 8:30, in the ballroom of Seaside Park. This evening of auditions for WTAR-TV will be one of the free evening features of the second annual Princess Anne County Fair which is being sponsored by the Woman's Club and Ruritan Club of Princess Anne County September 6-10.

WTAR-TV favorites who will appear on the stage during the auditions, as judges of the talent, will be Marjorie Carle, Marybelle, Blair Eubanks, Frank Vann, Boyd "Diskdoodler" Harrier, and Alice Brewer White, who will be mistress of ceremonies.

Winslow Hope, television program manager, and Dan Durnice, producer, of the TV station's staff, will be in the audience to watch the auditions and look for unusual talent. There has been a dearth of Princess Anne talent appearing at WTAR-TV's doors and it is to be hoped some undiscovered performers will show up on the Talent Hunt Night.

Anyone wishing to try out is asked to bring their own sheet music and appear between 7:00 and 7:30 p.m. at the stage of the ballroom to fill out their application card and rehearse. The auditions will begin promptly at 8:30 p.m. Auditioners may bring accompanists, however, Charles Cooke, pianist, will play for the auditioners not having their own accompanists.

U. S. submarines have crossed the Atlantic to England without coming to the surface.

Doris Day, Famous Screen, Radio Star, To Appear At Fair

She Will Introduce 'Miss Princess Anne' At Fashion Show

Doris Day, famous stage, screen, radio, television and fur fashion designing star of New York and Hollywood, will be one of the two celebrity guests to participate in the Fall and Winter Fashion Show which will be staged by Alice Brewer White in the ballroom at Seaside Park on the last day of the Princess Anne County Fair, Sunday, September 10, at 3 p.m.

Miss Day will introduce Miss Princess Anne of 1960, who will wear one of Miss Day's especially designed fur coats. She will be accompanied by her beautiful court ladies, all styled in fur.

Sylvan Rich, internationally known designer and president of the Martini and Daintine Fashion, who returned from Paris on August 21, will be co-commentator with Mrs. White in presenting the new fall and winter fashions from New York and Paris, and from his collection with Tailored Togs of Virginia Beach.

Mr. Rich, who always introduces his own collection to the visiting ladies of the press and radio during New York's Fashion Press Week, lends just enough charm and wit to his commentary to enhance his popularity with the ladies in the audience. The commentary for Sunday's show promises to be gay and different, with authentic accounts of his recent Paris fashion trip to the prominent couturiers and fashion houses.

Miss Day, who has appeared with Gertrude Lawrence on Broadway in "Susan and God," with the Luntas, and in many Hollywood movies with Charles Boyer and Roy Rogers, owns her own plane. She will fly her Cessna 140 plane to Norfolk September 9 and to the Oceana airport the following day in time for the afternoon show at the fair. She has been a licensed pilot for the last seven years and took the "regular Army training course" in flying.

The Sunday fashion show will be the only one of the five fashion features which Mrs. White is presenting for which an admission charge will be made. The event will benefit the Woman's Club and Ruritan Club's welfare projects.

Tickets may be purchased after Saturday at Tailored Togs, Jar's, Harvel's Mayflower Shopping Center Pharmacy, the Normandie Restaurant, Kellam-Baton, and Panone's. Anyone may purchase the Sunday fashion show tickets at the ballroom door before the show.

The scrap book must be neatly and attractively arranged and contain newspaper clippings, magazine articles, fashion plates, good grooming ideas, dress designing, and any other material of interest pertaining to fashions.

Any teen-ager desiring to enter a scrap book to be judged is asked to send her application to Mrs. J. S. Dudley, Chairman of Exhibits, Back Bay, Va., by September 1.

Offer to Purchase Property Not Heard From by Deadline

Roy Smith, town attorney, has prepared a letter to the State Corporation Commission to set a date for a hearing before that body to discover whether or not the Town of Virginia Beach can proceed with condemnation of property owned by Norfolk Southern Railway used for right-of-way for their tracks through the Beach and that now occupied by the town's playground.

Mr. Smith said that the three-man Commission will meet on and after September 6, and it is hoped that the hearing date can be set as near that date as possible.

The town made an offer to purchase the right-of-way and the playground property around the first of this month, but had not heard from the Norfolk Southern at the expiration of the deadline date set, August 10. An offer of $15,000 was made for the right-of-way, and $17,500 for the block occupied by the playground, which is bounded by 19th and 30th Streets and Pacific and Artie avenues.

The right-of-way is 40 feet wide from 30th to 40th Street and 100 feet from 40th to the town limits. It would compose some 75 lots. The town has passed an ordinance providing that real estate within Virginia Beach not already subdivided and platted for building sites must first be approved for that purpose by the town. The ordinance was aimed at the possibility that the Norfolk Southern property might be sold to private interests who would then be able to build and interfere with the town's proposed super highway along Pacific Avenue.

The million-dollar highway, which is in the blueprint stage, would provide for two lanes with a center parkway, to intercept on the north with Atlantic Avenue above the Cavalier Hotel and connect with the proposed Ocean Highway on the south.

Joseph C. Wallace Victim of Accident

Joseph Cressler Wallace, 55, of Princess Anne County, died at the Virginia Beach Hospital Wednesday from injuries he received at the J. C. Wallace mill, which he operated.

He was a native and lifelong resident of Princess Anne County and a member of the Oakliff Methodist Church. He was the son of Mrs. Maude Beck Wallace and the late Joseph C. Wallace and husband of the late Fannie Hodder Wallace.

Besides his mother, he is survived by nine daughters, Mrs. Norman Kindler, Mrs. Elwood Masada, Mrs. Jim Murray, Mrs. Leon Francis White, Miss Fennie Eugene Wallace, Miss Doris Virginia Wallace, Miss Barbara Jean Wallace, Miss Carolyn Ray Wallace, and Miss Joyce Wallace; seven sons, Joseph C., Nannie E., J. Leonard, Walter F., Thomas, Jamie W., and Emmett Wallace, all of this vicinity; two sisters, Mrs. Warren Mason, of Riverside, N. J., and Addie Mott, of South Norfolk; and five brothers, C. R. Wallace, N. W. Wallace, H. T. Wallace, and G. M. Wallace, all of Norfolk, and A. S. Wallace, of Raleigh, N. C.

NEED FOR A HIGH SCHOOL

Voters of Virginia Beach will have an opportunity at September 19th's referendum to secure for their town a first-class high school—a long-felt need for this growing community. With the money already made available, with the proposed site already owned, the only issue the referendum will settle is: "Do we or do we not want the high school?"

Willoughby T. Cooke School, which has been expanded twice in recent years, is already overcrowded; Oceana School has reached the saturation point. The erection of the proposed high school at Virginia Beach will relieve both these situations, for it would take over in its junior department all the grades above the fifth in Cooke School, and by taking from Oceana the 200 high school students from Virginia Beach who attend that school, would obviate the necessity of further expansion at Oceana.

Furthermore, from the large number of Beach and North Virginia Beach parents who see fit to send their children to Norfolk or other schools it seems plausible to believe that there are doubts as to the excellence of the schooling received at Oceana School, the one they now would attend.

The Virginia Beach High School would be modern and up-to-date in every way; would offer Grade A instruction. It would house a minimum of 250 high school and 250 junior high school students, with a maximum student load of 1,500. Laboratory facilities of the most modern and up-to-the-minute types are planned, in unworlded surroundings which are the only kind in which instruction can be undertaken most efficiently.

Forward looking residents must go to the polls to vote in order that the council will be given an overwhelming vote of confidence in their plan for the high school. It is not without the realm of possibility that unless the vote by interested persons is large that a few selfish property holders, fearful of the slight raise in taxes that will be necessitated to amortize the $700,000 loan for the school, might be able to defeat the proposition.

We feel confident that there are few such selfish persons at Virginia Beach, and that there are many, many times the number who will favor this progressive step for the good of our citizens of tomorrow.

QUESTY?

The News staff was reminiscing the other day about some of the events of the past year, and we came up against something that puzzled us no end. Maybe you can help us.

Just about this time last year, a group of "alleged" gambling gentlemen and a group of business men slipped in our back doors and asked us "Pretty please, with sugar on it, will you guys lay off the editorials until after Labor Day. We don't want any raids now because these are the days when the money rolls into our little clubs, and raids might hurt us."

What puzzled us was this: If they feared raids last year, and apparently have no fear whatever this year, what is the change of set-up?

Have they reformed? Well, from what we hear, this frightful conclusion is not the answer.

Have the laws changed? Nope, because we haven't read about the change of any such laws as would apply to these boys.

Could better protection be the answer?

We are frank to admit we need help to get the answer to that one.

LOOKING BACK

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AGO — AUGUST 23, 1929

The Virginia Beach News for August 23, 1929, headlined the fact that Mayor Charles E. Barco had called a strict quarantine against residents of Roanoke as a precautionary measure to check the spread of polio from residents of the western section of the state to the Beach. "The physicians with whom we consulted and the hotel operators thought it would be better to run no risks." All hotel owners have agreed to notify applicants from undesirable sections that it would be impossible to accommodate them; State police were turning back automobiles from the area; and the railroad passenger lists were being checked carefully.

The Tourist Information Bureau reported a record number of calls for guidance of tourists the week previous. The requests for information came from visitors from 17 different states. During the year requests had come to Mrs. W. L. Whitaker, in charge of the local office, from every state in the union with the exception of North Dakota, Montana and Idaho.

Virginia Beach rivals famous Beach of Waikiki, the News reported. They were quoting David Bent, secretary to the Hawaiian representative in Washington. A native Hawaiian, Mr. Bent said that the Beach offers more of the attractions that have made Waikiki a world famous watering place than any other beach in the country.

The social and personal columns reported:

From Princess Anne: Miss Lucille Upton spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. O. L. McClannan; and little Misses Annie and Doris Cuthrell and their little brother, Caleb, spent some time recently with their grandparents in Norfolk.

From Fungo: Dr. George T. Shoad left last week for Fluvanna County where he would spend some time visiting his old home-land and many relatives.

Also from Fungo: A wedding claiming unusual interest throughout South Princess Anne County was that of Miss Alma Virginia Robinson and Willard Frank Whitehurst, which occurred at the Tabernacle Methodist Church in Princess Anne on Wednesday, August 21. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Robinson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrison Whitehurst.

Mrs. Byrd Heads Children's Home Society Fund Drive

County Residents Asked to Dig Deeper

Edward A. Wayne, of Richmond, chairman of the State-wide annual drive for funds for the Children's Home Society of Virginia, announces that an effort to raise funds for the Society in Princess Anne County began August 15, under the leadership of Mrs. G. Bentley Byrd, of London Bridge, who is a member of the Society's State Board of Directors. Mrs. Byrd has mailed letters to all former contributors and many additional new people. "It is hoped that citizens of this county will respond promptly and generously to this appeal," Mrs. Byrd said.

The Society, which recently celebrated its 50th anniversary as an adoption agency, cared for 287 orphans last year. Sixty-five of this number were legally adopted during the year and 73 more placed in adoptive homes.

Eleven more children were placed for adoption than in the preceding year and 17 more children were received into care during the year than in 1948.

The Society hopes this year to further enlarge its services, and to both take into care and place for adoption more children than in 1949.

This cannot be done, however, unless the State-wide campaign goal of $150,000 is reached, Mr. Wayne pointed out.

"If each person who last year gave $1.00 could increase it by $2.00, and if each donor of larger gifts would also make an increase in contributions our goal will be easily reached," Mr. Wayne added.

He urged all friends of the Society to give as liberally as possible in order that it's work may be increased rapidly.

William Hardy Is New Manager of 'The Lost Colony'

William Hardy, who has been assistant to General Manager John W. Parker of "The Lost Colony" during the current season, has been named by the Roanoke Island Historical Association, the sponsors of the pageant, to succeed him in that post. Mr. Parker resigned due to the pressure of other business, primarily his work as business manager of the Carolina Playmakers in Chapel Hill.

Mr. Hardy has had several years experience in drama. He has been active in Carolina Playmakers activities and Duke Players since 1946. He was an officer in the submarine service during World War II and is a native of Norfolk. For the past several years he has made his home in the Chapel Hill and Durham areas.

Mr. Parker accepted the job of general manager of the production on a temporary basis three years ago. Under his management the show has had its most successful seasons and is now considerably better off financially than at any time in its history.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

New York—The Korean war is the major key to business prospects again this week, and perhaps for many weeks or months to come. With U. S. troops still on the defensive, no quick mop-up of the Red-led North Korean forces is in sight, and the home front is reacting accordingly. Retailers, for instance, are already beginning to feel the war's impact as some consumers rush to stock up. New York buying offices are urging the retail men to move cautiously, however. To quote a top executive of one leading firm: "It would be far better for all retailers to play a conservative role in this present situation than to speculate on merchandise and have large stocks on hand which may or may not be desirable at some future time."

ONE RETAILER'S VIEW—Macy's, the world's largest store, took a fortnight last week when it bought space in New York papers to tell people the facts about shortages. "There's no important shortage of anything," said the copy. "Our own counters are bulging with merchandise. In many, many lines, there's a surplus. . . . We believe any talk of genuine shortages is nonsense—and dangerous nonsense!" Here's a message worth noting by both customers and retailers. As Macy's pointed out: "America's productive capacity is at such a high level that it can cope with just about everything except a stampede of hoarding and panic buying."

NO DROUGHT NOW—Until last year, Kansas was one of the only three "dry" states left in the country (Oklahoma and Mississippi are the other two). In March, 1949, however, the Kansas legislature finally succumbed to the pleas of the state's citizenry and legalized liquor. How do Kansans feel about the situation, after a year of being free to step into a liquor store and buy whatever beverage they want? According to John L. Leban, president of Schenley Distillers, they like the idea just fine. To get the facts, Leban sent inquiries to nearly 4,000 leading Kansans; newspaper editors, educators, mayors, police chiefs, legislators, labor officials, businessmen and doctors. Approximately four out of five of the replies stressed the fact that public reaction to legal liquor is favorable.

According to Leban, 70 per cent of the answers pointed out that the new industry provided by repeal had "significantly benefited" the community. Three out of four of the replies reported a definite improvement in law observance, for example. The general reaction was summed up by the manager of a Chamber of Commerce in a west Kansas community in these words: "The average Kansan is happier now, because the average man had been violating the law during prohibition and the average man is not happy violating the law."

THINGS TO COME—New products include: (1) a combination pencil and memo pad, all things—just flick the pencil's cap and presto!—36 inches of memo paper appear; (2) a low-priced midsize stapler which doubles as a tacker. . . . Home carpenters will like the new aluminum nails—they don't have to be counter-sunk or put into, and they won't leave rust marks on wood siding. . . . Lightweight Bakelite polyethylene mixing bowls won't break, crack, or chip. They bend when you squeeze the sides, though—it simplifies pouring batters, liquids, etc. . . . Try "White Cap" if you like foam on your beverages. Eight ounces of it is enough to put a head on some 300 drinks, says the maker. . . . A boon to cold weather window-washers is a magnetized cleaning pad set which lets you wash outside and inside panes at the same time. When you move the interior pad the outer one follows right along, cleaning as it goes.

EFFICIENCY EXPERT—The average American business man may be a bungler when it comes to managing a home, as any vacationing housewife can tell you, but he shines in producing the gadgets that help the Little Woman run her home more efficiently. At the recent National Housewares Show in Atlantic City business men who may never have bolted an eye or done a week's wash were credited with producing eight work-arrows which have helped free American women from kitchen slavery.

BITS O' BUSINESS—America's truck farmers are better off today than they were a year ago. According to the latest official estimates, they're getting 17 per cent more for their products than at this time last year. . . . Air lines are boosting passenger mileage to new ceilings. One line recently topped the 6,000,000 a day total twice in a week. . . . Automobile dealers are also doing a rushing business. Much of it is "new buying," however—by people who are afraid the war may put a crimp in car production.

ANY CONTROL TIPS LISTED BY VPI ENTOMOLOGIST

Ants of all species can be easily and effectively controlled with one application of 5 per cent chlordane dust applied directly on the mounds of their nests, says J. O. Howell, entomologist at V. P. I.

A second application may be necessary if rain washes off the first.

If it is not possible to locate the nests, Howell suggests using chlordane dust or spray on lawns, flower beds, and tree trunks where the ants are a nuisance. He recommends 4 pounds of 40 per cent chlordane wettable powder in 100 gallons of water as a spray, or ready-prepared 5 per cent chlordane dust.

Ants can be kept out of the house by spraying 5 per cent chlordane in highly refined oil along with runways. This refined spray will not stain rugs, woodwork, or furniture.

John Paul Jones, sometimes called the father of the American Navy and hero of the American Revolution, once said: "In time of peace it is necessary to prepare and always be prepared for war at sea."

1950 Price Support for Peanuts Rises Slightly

Grower prices of 1950-crop farmers' stock quota peanuts will be supported at a basic rate of 10.5 cents a pound or about $216 a ton, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced this week through FMA State Chairman R. B. Bridgforth.

These prices are designed to assure growers 90 per cent of the parity price for peanuts on August 1.

On last year's crop the basic support rate was 10.5 cents a pound, or $210 a ton.

To be eligible for price support a producer must: not harvest peanuts in excess of the acreage picked and threshed in 1947. Even so, any acreage harvested this year in excess of the 1950 allotment must be delivered for crushing to agencies designated by the Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Bridgforth said.

Price supports will be carried out through loans to producers through FMA county committees and purchases of farmers' stock peanuts; loans to shellers from the Commodity Credit Corporation or approved lending agencies; and agreements with shellers who pay producers full support prices to purchase inventories which they cannot move commercially.

Seaboard Appoints Tilghman to Post

Appointment of H. Granville Tilghman as special representative in the public relations department of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, with headquarters at Norfolk, has been announced by W. E. Rachels, public relations representative for the railroad.

Mr. Tilghman was born in Portsmouth, Va., and spent his boyhood in Dunn, N. C. He attended the University of North Carolina and after several years of newspaper work in that state became affiliated in 1934 with the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot. He served for four years as an officer in the Navy during World War II.

a display of Virginia Wildlife, the Commission's mascot, will be erected in one corner of the exhibit and will be staffed by Game Commission personnel to accept subscriptions to the publication.

At this booth the public can also receive information on fish and game, can file application for free wildlife plants and seeds, and may obtain useful literature on the Commission's broad wildlife restoration program. Thousands of posters and leaflets showing game conservation, and safety advice while hunting will also be available to the public.

Miss Charlotte Jordan Timberlake Becomes Bride of Thomas B. Battle

Galilee Episcopal Church was the setting of a beautiful wedding Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock when Miss Charlotte Jordan Timberlake, daughter of Comdr. and Mrs. Julian B. Timberlake, of Virginia Beach, became the bride of Thomas Braswell Battle, of Rocky Mount, N. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Llewellyn Battle, of Rocky Mount.

The ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, retired presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church; the Rev. Edmund Berkeley, rector of the church, and the Rev. Gray Temple, of the Church of the Good Shepherd, in Rocky Mount. The church was decorated with Easter lilies, magnolia leaves and lighted candles. Mrs. George L. Aldridge, church organist, played the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of white duchess satin and tulle, made with a yoke of sheer nylon tulle outlined with seed pearls, bertha of rose-point lace, fitted bodice buttoned up the back with tiny self-covered buttons, and long, tight skirt sleeves. The full gathered skirt of tulle over satin formed a sweeping train. Her full-length circular veil of imported French tulle bordered with wide lace fell from a cap of heirloom silk lace belonging to her great-grandmother, caught with orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a string of pearls. She carried a bouquet of lily of the valley and bouvardia centered with white orchids.

Mrs. Hyman L. Battle, Jr., of Princeton, N. J., sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, and Miss Mary Pratt, of Gloucester, was maid of honor. They wore gowns of Chateau green nylon tulle over matching taffeta with shirred bodices worn with tulle capelets and bouffant skirts with pinnies of tucked tulle outlined with deep ruffles. They carried bouquets of lavender Vanda orchids and bouvardia. The bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Lee Hite, of Norfolk; Miss Noel Marvin, of Louisville, Ky.; Miss Betty Brooke Morris, of Roanoke; Miss Joan Waters, of Buffalo, N. Y.; and Miss Molly McCurdy, of Philadelphia, Pa. They wore gowns similar to those of the honor attendants and carried bouquets of lavender Vanda orchids. Miss Grace Jordan, of Virginia Beach, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a gown of magnolia white marquisette over satin, made with off-the-shoulder neckline and full period skirt worn over a crinoline with green velvet sash. She carried a bouquet of lavender Vanda orchids and wore a band of green velvet in her hair.

Hyman L. Battle, Jr., of Princeton, N. J., was best man for his brother and the groomsmen were Winniet Peters, of Wilton, N. C.; Julian Timberlake, III, of Montclair, N. J., brother of the bride; Theodore Devine, of Mamaroneck, N. Y.; James Fish, of Scranton, Pa.; William W. Gwaltney, III, of Baltimore, Md.; Charles E. Slingshuf, Jr., of Virginia Beach; and Lewis Thorp, of Rocky Mount. The bride's mother wore a gown of moonstone blue chiffon and lace over Nuovo pink with short matching lace jacket and long white kid gloves. She wore a headpiece of pink tulle and her flowers were white orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore a gown of imported mauve rose silk taffeta with shapely bodice outlined in French pink tulle and embroidered in mauve rose paillettes, matching gloves and carried white orchids with lavender tips on her paillette bag. After the ceremony a reception was given at the Princess Anne Country Club. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Battle left for a wedding trip to Bermuda and after their return they will reside in Chapel Hill, N. C. The bride wore for traveling a two-piece suit of navy silk shantung made with unpressed pleated skirt and jacket trimmed in navy velvet. She wore a French hat of matching velvet with navy coque feathers, and a corsage of white orchids and lily of the valley.

National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Sends Funds to State

March of Dimes funds are pouring into Virginia to help combat the effects of polio still striking with considerable force in the south-western section of the state. Emergency funds totaling $28,000 were dispatched recently by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to six Virginia counties where foundation chapters have already emptied their own March of Dimes treasuries in providing funds for the care of patients stricken this summer and in earlier years.

The six counties, and the sums they are receiving, are: Wythe, $16,174; Blaine, $1,120; Carroll, $1,276; Pittsylvania, $4,994; Scott, $2,141; and Wise, $2,315. March of Dimes emergency funds sent into Virginia this year by the National Foundation already exceed $66,000.

Wythe County, fighting the most concentrated epidemic in the nation, with 49 cases recorded by August 15, received $5,000 in March of Dimes epidemic aid funds only three weeks earlier. The major portion of that amount was immediately expended for care and transportation of current cases, according to Dr. B. A. Wagner, Wythe County Chapter Chairman.

Of the 148 Wythe County patients hospitalized in Roanoke and Richmond since the outbreak began the first week in July, 100 had returned for convalescent care in their own homes by August 15. Physical therapists made available through funds from the National Foundation help county and public health nurses carry out the home-care program under the supervision of the Virginia Bureau of Crippled Children and the Wythe County Health Department. The Wythe County Chapter provides whatever materials and equipment are necessary to provide adequate home care.

Wise County, which had reported one case by August 15, received its first advance of March of Dimes funds last April when $1,000 was sent in by the National

MY PRAYER

By LESSIE B. BEASLEY
A Navy and Marine Mother

For our boys away on that far distant shore,
May our prayers be said for them o'er and o'er.
May the dear Lord who said to the waves, "Be Still,"
Protect them and keep them from every ill.

Tho' they walk thru the valley of the shadow of death,
Support them and comfort them thru their last breath.
If the sparrow He feeds—the lily He clothes,
How much more will He save them—our boys from their foes.

May our leaders today have the wisdom they need,
To save our nation from the tempter's greed.
May such peace as the world has never yet known,
Flow unceasingly for us from the Heavenly Throne.

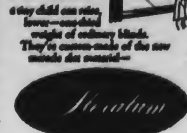

Foundation headquarters to replenish the chapter's exhausted treasury. The Wise County Chapter has been paying the costs of continuing care of 30 patients stricken in previous years.

NOT ENOUGH CHAUFFEURS, MAYBE

The House Appropriations Committee recently reported that the Denver office of one Agriculture Department agency had 217 automobiles, of which 194 were not used during the first four months of 1949. In the first six months, 80 of them had still not been used.

Wide Food Variety on August Market

Food markets will offer plenty of cabbage, carrots, Irish potatoes, and locally grown vegetables in August. V. P. I. marketing specialists said in reporting the USDA's plentiful food list for the month.

Locally grown vegetables will include okra, corn, tomatoes, beets and sweet potatoes.

The Salinas Valley of California will ship carrots heavily, and New Mexico—in 1949 the fourth ranking carrot shipping area—will start harvesting by the first of the month.

Cabbage supplies will come from such widely scattered areas as Georgia, New York, Illinois, Wisconsin, Colorado, and from local farms and gardens. Watermelons also will be marketed heavily in August.

Best supplies in meats probably will be found in hens, broilers, fryers, and fish. Milk, eggs, and processed dairy products such as butter, cheese, evaporated milk, and cottage cheese, are among other protein foods in abundant supply.

For use in desserts, or for breakfast waffles or hot cakes, the marketing specialists recommend honey, another plentiful food in August.

Homeowners' Home

You don't need a fireplace to enjoy outdoor coziness—though it's a big help. Food specialists at V. P. I. recommend borrowing one or two steel racks from the family oven. They can be supported over sturdy rocks, bricks, or green forked sticks driven into the ground. Prepare a bed of glowing coals from either wood or charcoal as the first step toward broiled, fried, or barbecued dishes.

A bedspread is chiefly used for decoration—and to protect the blankets. But when it's tattered, old, and faded it loses its decorative function. Before you discard the spread, think about these suggestions from home economists at V. P. I. The specialists think the worn-out spread may become a bath mat. Here's how: Cut the spread into convenient sizes and sew two thicknesses together. If the bedspread is not too heavy, it could be made up into garment bags to protect dresses. The left-over scraps can be used for cleaning and mop cloths.

Here's a suggestion for saving on dishwashing. Use only one spoon to stir all foods at the range or stove. You'll keep your work surface clean if you place the spoon in a bowl of warm water between stirrings. Then as soon as you've finished using all cooking utensils, wash them out. Put cold water in utensils which held eggs and starch mixtures, and hot water in those that held fats and sugars.

Nothing goes better with hot dogs, hamburgers and other picnic fare than crisp sticks of carrots and celery, radishes, strips of green pepper, and other relishes. But to keep them crisp may be a problem.

Here's a suggestion from home economists at V. P. I.: put several ice cubes in the bottom of a glass fruit jar or a tall metal can with a tight fitting lid. Fill with relishes. Put on the lid, and wrap a couple of newspapers around the container. To keep the relishes for an hour or so, you'll need only three or four ice cubes. For a long jaunt, put in twice that many.

You may have thought that it would be nice to cool fruit juices and punch without diluting them with melting ice. Why not freeze fruit juice cubes instead of ice cubes. Just pour fruit juice into the ice cube tray and freeze. And you needn't always have pineapple cubes to put in pineapple juice, or grape juice cubes to put in grape juice. Let your imagination, your ideas on color, and your likes in flavor guide you to try out different combinations.

When you are placing a pattern on material for cutting, place the larger pieces on first, and then locate the smaller pieces. You can save time by first determining the approximate placement of each piece and then pinning them in place. Another time saver is to pin each section to the grain line first, and then smooth to the corners and pin the outer edges in place.

DAMAGE BY MICE MAY BE AVOIDED IN FLOWER GARDEN
If pine and meadow mice damage tulips and iris bulbs in your flower garden you will be interested in advice from A. G. Smith, Jr., associate horticulturist at V. P. I.

Protect the bulbs by running hardware cloth or fine wire around the bed to a depth of 12 inches below the surface, and 2 inches

Plenty of Turkey Is Forecast for State

Plenty of turkey for the consumer's table this fall and winter is the forecast from D. U. Livermore, poultry marketing specialist at V. P. I.

The Shenandoah Valley had turned out 2,600,000 poult—51 per cent more than last year—by late July. For the entire state, poult hatched through June amounted to 33 per cent above the hatch for the same period last year.

Mr. Livermore says the large local increases are in contrast to reports for the United States, which indicate only a 3 per cent increase over last year.

The 1950 season for operations of turkey hatcheries in the Valley is about over. The last week in July, volume had dwindled to 25,000 poult hatched.

Mr. Livermore says that the 1950 crop in the nation likely will exceed last year's large production of 41 million birds, and will be substantially above the 1935-39 average of 27,000,000.

July 1 stocks of turkey from the 1949 crop totaled about 66,000,000 pounds, more than double the supply on the same date last year. In July, 6,500,000 pounds of 1949-crop turkey were bought by the government under the price support program. This brought the total price support purchases to 15,500,000 pounds, or about 2 per cent of the 1949 production.

There will be no price support for 1950 turkey production. Support for the 1949 crop ended in July.

TIME AND EFFORT SAVINGS ACCOUNT #102301

Banking time

It would be interesting if you could take a look at a book showing your time-and-effort savings account—made possible by your telephone. There would be quite a balance in your favor! The entries would show all the hours, all the effort and all the inconvenience saved by your telephone. Other entries would show you worries saved you, for the telephone keeps you in touch with people you love, guards you and your family twenty-four hours a day. When you consider all that telephone service does, it's easy to see why it is one of the best buys you can make!

Missing something?

For instance, you might miss an important call if you wait for the last ring of your telephone bell before running to answer it. If you answer as soon as you're sure it's your ring, you'll avoid losing important calls, and your neighbors won't be annoyed by unnecessary ringing.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Virginia.

Little Just how much need a really fine car cost?

Y'OU'LL find the answer written in the delivered price tags of this bold and strapping beauty pictured here.

It's a Buick Roadmaster—and you have only to put yourself behind the wheel to see that it is truly fine by any yardstick.

But it leaves the factory carrying the lowest price per pound of any car in the fine-car field.

That means that the money that goes into its building goes for things that really count—

For a big, husky Fireball straight-eight engine of 152 hp and all the brilliance of performance the highways can handle—

For room that measures up with the biggest, and for comfort contrived of deep soft seats and abundant space for taking it easy—

For a ride that's literally "out of this world," soft and easy as any all-coil springing can make it, yet firm and steady always, thanks to torque-tube drive—

For handling that is feather-light, for the complete smoothness of Dynaflow Drive as standard equipment, for a whole host of fine-car touches such as rich upholstery materials, flexible-spoke steering wheel, non-glare rear-view mirror, even automatic windshield washers, all included in the price.

Yes, the big question ROADMASTER answers is not how much a really fine car costs, but how little you need to pay to get all that a fine car can give.

Drop in any time on your Buick dealer for a trial ride in a ROADMASTER—and the surprisingly happy news on its delivered prices.

All entries in the Princess Anne County Fair Literary Contest, one of the popular cultural features of the event, must be in the hands of the contest committee by September 2 (Saturday), according to W. C. Everett, who is contest chairman.

Entries will be judged on Tuesday at WTAR by the three judges, who are: Joel Carlson, program manager of WTAR; William Sewell, Jr., professor of English at William and Mary, and author of several novels; and Grace Jordan, Virginia Beach News staff.

Prizes will consist of a first prize of $10 in each of six groups, with three ribbon prizes for runners-up. The groups are: best poem, plays, short stories, short prose, radio scripts, and newspaper articles or editorials.

"Keelhauling" meant the offender in the Navy was bound hand and foot and weighted, causing him to sink, then drawing him under the ship's bottom. If the bottom was covered with barnacles, the torture was extreme and often proved fatal.

Home Sewing to be Shown at County Fair September 7

Adults and 4-H Club Girls Will Participate in Contest for Prizes

Princess Anne seamstresses will be given an opportunity to display their talents at a Homemakers Fashion Show at the Princess Anne County Fair on Thursday, September 7, at 3 p.m.

Seasonal and attractive garments designed for various occasions, but made at home, will be shown on this program which will take place in the ballroom between 3 and 4 p.m. The models will be persons for whom the clothes were planned. Many homemakers will model their own work. 4-H Club girls will also display their talents to prove they are seamstresses, and a great many children's garments will be seen.

Miss Jane Craig, local home agent, will introduce the models, and Mrs. Alice Brewer White, Woman's Director of WTAR, will be the commentator.

Prizes will be awarded in the adult group for: the best head dress, best head bag dress, best tailored garment (dress out or coat), and garment representing the best workmanship.

In the teen-age group awards will be given for: best school outfit, best party dress, and garment with best workmanship.

Prizes will also be given for best mother-daughter combination and most attractive brother-sister outfits.

Anyone desiring to participate in this showing of fashions is requested to send an entry blank to the Chairman of Exhibits, Mrs. J. B. Dudley, Back Bay, Va., by September 1.

Lawn Tips Given by State Horticulturist

Want a better lawn next year? Now's the time to do something about it, says Albert B. Beecher, landscape gardening specialist at V. P. I.

Mr. Beecher advises home owners to check on the condition of lawns now. Chemical weed killers will eliminate many weeds, but are no substitute for a good lawn fertilization program.

Follow weed killers with an application of fertilizer in late August or early September. Even if your lawn is free of weeds, apply some fertilizer to keep the turf strong and vigorous.

If you plan to start a new lawn this fall, get the grading completed as soon as possible so you will be ready to sow the seed in August or early September. Except where it is hard to grow blue grass, Virginians are advised to seed 80 percent (by weight) Kentucky blue grass, and 20 percent red top.

A light mulch of wheat straw spread over the soil after the seed is sown will help get a good stand.

Mr. Beecher also says that now is the time to order bulbs for crocuses, daffodils, hyacinths, tulips, and narcissus, for planting in October and November.

Coach Tomko Calls Football Practice

Coach C. M. Tomko, Oceana High School head coach, has called his first football practice for Monday, August 28. Candidates are requested to see Coach Tomko. They will meet at the high school.

Food, Grass Stains Nothing to Worry About, Says A.I.

Outdoor enthusiasts who are bringing home empty picnic baskets and stained play clothes these days should enjoy that well-fed feeling and stop worrying about the food or grass stains picked up at the picnic . . . or so says the American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center for the laundry industry.

The worry-free formula recommended by textile chemists at the Institute for home treatment of food stains is a simple one—rinsing in cold water before the garment is laundered.

Women who experiment with household stain removal products to remove either food or grass stains are the ones who are likely to run into trouble. Cellulose-acetate rayon, for example, which is widely used for warm weather clothing should be kept clear of solvents containing acetone (used as finger nail polish remover), the chemists advise. Such solvents will remove the spot—and the garment, too. They dissolve acetate. Oxalic acids may also disintegrate cellulose fibers, especially if permitted to dry into the fabric.

Any type of cleaner should be thoroughly rinsed from the material before it is dried or pressed, say the A. I. L. textile experts. Even cleaning preparations which are harmless in their normal, dilute form become concentrated when allowed to dry into a fabric. And in time, some concentrates may so weaken the cloth that some subsequent laundering is likely to "wash out" the spot where the stain was.

Grass stains, while a little harder to remove than food stains, don't present too much of a problem. Most of the stains will come out in the laundering treatment. If the fabric is white, a mild bleaching treatment (one part of bleach to 20 parts of water for 2 or 3 minutes) will help. Your local laundry would wash a white, grass stained garment in a white-work formula which would include a bleach bath.

Bleach, of course, would not be used on colored clothes. If laundering failed to remove every trace of the grass stains, sponging the spots with alcohol would. Since alcohol is inflammable, the Institute textile experts advise that it not be used near an open flame.

Excessive rubbing with either water or a cleaning agent is never advisable, according to the A. I. L. Too much friction in one spot may chafe a fabric and may even damage color.

Sgt. Wm. Sawyer First Princess Anne AF Reservist Called

Staff Sgt. William J. Sawyer, Jr., USAF, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sawyer, Sr., of Chesapeake Beach, reported Monday for active duty at Fort Dix, near Trenton, N. J.

Sgt. Sawyer is believed to be the first Princess Anne County Air Force reservist to be called involuntarily to active duty. He is a classification specialist.

He is a graduate of Granby High School and served from 1946-49 at Eglin Air Force Base, near Pensacola, Fla. He was a student in aeronautical engineering at the Norfolk Division of the College of William and Mary for the 1948-50 season and was planning to re-enter this fall until orders to report for duty arrived.

Lack of Winter Cover Crops Means Plant Food Loss

$1,500,000 Lost in Twelve Tidewater Counties Annually

Plant food valued at $1,500,000 is leached annually from land left bare over the winter months in 12 Tidewater counties, according to H. W. Collins, county agent.

He said that W. C. White, assistant agent at V. P. I., estimates at least half of the 500,000 acres of corn, peanuts, cotton, and soybeans is left bare over winter in this area.

According to Mr. White legume winter cover crops following the four main row crops in Tidewater Virginia, in addition to saving the plant food, can save:

$2,750,000 worth of nitrogen fertilizer on the 250,000 acres of corn.
 $113,000 in nitrogen fertilizer on the 26,000 acres of cotton.

$800,000 by preventing the leaching of nitrogen fixed and left in soils by soybeans after combining.

Supplementing a pasture system of ladino clover and grass with the winter grazing provided by winter cover crops can be worth an additional $12,500,000 in beef in the peanut, corn, cotton and soybean counties.

With these possible benefits, Mr. White believes Tidewater farmers can't afford to be without winter cover crops. He advises them to buy their seed now. Seed supplies are fairly good except for domestic crimson clover. Some exported clover is coming into the state, and while indications are that it is not quite as winter-hardy as the winter strains, it serves the same purposes, and his advice planting the seed winter for the best of a good cover crop. It will pay every farmer to seek every acre possible to either crimson clover, rye, wheat, or a mixture of the small grains. A cover crop practically will keep up the soil fertility and enable farmers to grow better crops at a cheaper cost per unit.
